TEDDY WILL STAY BY PARTY

IN FAREWELL BANQUET DE-
CLARES PROGRESSIVE PARTY IS PERMANENT.

FIGHT IS JUST BEGUN

TELLS OF PLANS ON RETURN FROM SOUTH AMERICA.

2000 ATTEND THE BANQUET

Lauds Candidates of Party in Different States—Speeches Made by Pinchot and Others.

New York, Oct. 3.—Theodore Roosevelt bade his friends farewell tonight, the eve of his departure on a journey to unexplored regions of South America, at a dinner given in his honor by the Progressive National Service and the Progressive Service of the State of New York. Addressing some two thousand men and women who gathered in his honor at the New York Roof Garden, the president apparently sought to put a quietus on published reports that he intended to return to the republican party.

"I warn our opponents that the fight has only just begun," he said, his voice breaking in his earnestness. "I will never abandon the principles to which we progressives have pledged ourselves."

The wildest enthusiasm greeted the assertion. Waving handkerchiefs and cheering, the diners jumped to their feet and cheered for half a minute. Only once during the evening did Mr. Roosevelt receive a greater ovation. Toward the close of the address of Gifford Pinchot, the toastmaster, there were cries of "We want Teddy." Raymond Robins, of Chicago, head of the Progressive National Service, leaned across the guest table. "Yes, we want him—we want him as president," he shouted.

Mrs. Roosevelt was a witness of the tribute.

Progressive leaders, men and women, including former United States Senator Beveridge, Senators Bristow and Miles Poindexter, Gifford Pinchot, Miss Frances A. Keller, Mrs. Charles S. Bird and John Fursey Mitchell were seated at the guest table.

Will Uphold Party on Return.

On his return from his South American trip, Col. Roosevelt said his best endeavors would be extended toward the upbuilding of the party. The party is solid, he declared, and he added that it was the first determination of the rank and file as well as the leaders to preserve its political entity, its solidarity and integrity. Speaking of the work he had mapped out for himself on his return, Col. Roosevelt said that "we shall enter unflinchingly as a nation party on another political campaign."

The colonel said that he would never rest content until every single principle enunciated by the progressive party is put into practical operation by the nation.

"It is emphatically a fight for our country," he declared. "I would continue to fight even if I stood entirely alone."

Colonel Roosevelt began by saying that he wanted to take this means of saying a word to all men and women of the progressive party. All his life, he said, he had been engaged in work that culminated in the last eighteen months and of all his political life it was the last eighteen months to which he looked back with the most satisfaction. This was his compliment to the men and women who have worked with him in the organization.

"I believe that all of us who have worked in this movement have gained thereby the inestimable advantage of a finer and higher outlook on life," he continued. "Moreover, friends, we have kept the faith wherever, and to the extent that power has been given us. We have striven to make good every promise of the covenant with the people which our platform represents. There is no principle to which we have not striven to live up to in spirit and letter alike. We have so driven our principles home that each of the old parties, in place after place, has been obliged to pay at least lip loyalty to them."

Says Party Will Go Forward.

Colonel Roosevelt predicted that the progressive party would never go back and he declared, "I warn our opponents that the fight has only just begun. Whatever may be in the future, of one thing the disciples of an easy opportunism may rest assured—I will never abandon the principles to which we progressives have pledged ourselves and I will never abandon the men and women who drew around me to battle for these."

JUDGE TANGLES WITH SOCIALISTS

DOCKET FULL OF CONTEMPT
CASES IN SEATTLE STREET
SPEAKING TROUBLE.

DEFENDENTS OFTEN "SAUCY"

One Woman Likens Court to Pontius
Pilate; Another Says She Is
From Missouri.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 3.—Superior Judge John E. Humphries, who began the day in belligerent mood with his docket full of contempt of court cases against socialists, adjourned court late today after dispensing pardons and remissions to all comers. His change of attitude came after a consultation with representatives of eight other superior judges.

Until the middle of the afternoon Judge Humphries continued to hear the cases of the fifty-five signers of the "defiance" making frequent addresses to the crowd. In the morning the penalties imposed were severe. In the afternoon mild. "The court frequently warned the defendants not to be 'saucy.' Those who were 'saucy' fared ill."

After the defendant persons had been disposed of the case of Dr. Titus on the charge of violating the anti-street speaking injunction was called. The judge delivered a long address and then discharged Dr. Titus to the latter's intense astonishment.

When Millard Price came forward the judge greeted him with a smile, saying: "Another friend of mine." Price answered a few questions and was discharged.

Kate Sadler, a street speaker, was brought from the county jail where she had been confined for interrupting the court's proceedings yesterday. Questioned by Judge Humphries, she declared she had not assailed him in her speeches, but on the contrary had praised him as an object lesson of the recall of judges. To her amazement the court said he would reduce her fine from $100 to $10.

"I'll not pay it," she shouted. "Don't get saucy," said the judge, adding, "The fine is remitted anyhow."

What became of the woman with the two babies?

The court asked next. Released Woman With Babies. He was told that Mrs. McNally would be released from jail tonight. The judge then inquired about Mrs. Spencer, a woman with four children, and remitted the fine against her. The prosecutor objected, saying:

"She was very defiant, your honor."

At the close of court tonight the signers of the socialist contempt cases were freed and more than a score of persons were in jail in default of paying fines varying from $50 to $200 for talking back to the court. Three of the latter had been sentenced to five months each in prison.

Five women were in jail tonight for non-payment of $100 fines. They are Mrs. L. F. Reed, a stylishly dressed young woman who resented a remark by the prosecutor about her good clothing and pleasing appearance; Mrs. Katherine Stirtan, who likened the court to Pontius Pilate; Mrs. Millard Price, who said she was from Missouri; Mrs. Annie Anderson and Mrs. Mary Jarvis.

The other eight judges would not give out details of their meeting except that it had agreed that Judge Humphries' branch of the superior court was co-ordinate with their own and they could not take any action to restrain it. It was agreed that Judge Everett Smith's granting of writs of habeas corpus was lawful, but not ethical and no more such writs should be issued.

The opinion of the judges were that relief must come from the supreme court which has already issued restraining orders against Judge Humphries and will pass upon appeals from sentences imposed yesterday and today.

When court adjourned Judge Humphries said he had not decided what to do with the hundreds of signers of the "resolutions of defiance" whom he had not yet cited.

Calls for Appropriation Warrants. Austin, Oct. 3.—J. M. Edwards, state treasurer, today issued a call for all special appropriation warrants issued during May. These total $100,000 and the payment of such will lower the state deficit to $75,000. All regular and pension warrants issued prior to September 1 will be paid at once.

Lane Is Party-Five.

Austin, Oct. 3.—Comptroller W. P. Lane today celebrated his forty-fifth birthday. He stated that the most pleasant thought of this particular time was that the passage of another year would see him the nominee for governor.

TO PASS TARIFF BILL MR. UNDERWOOD, COMBINING POWER WITH TACT, BROUGHT UNITY IN DEMOCRATIC PARTY

OSCAR W. UNDERWOOD

In the above illustration are two photographs of Representative Oscar W. Underwood, of Alabama, the man who is the author of the new element of solidarity in the democratic party. The old reproach that democrats can not hang together has been buried in the success of making the Underwood competitive tariff.

Mr. Underwood has won a great reputation. He has made good the axiom that every American tariff produces a statesman. "The gentleman from Alabama," said Speaker Clark in generous praise, "has written his name in history as the author of this bill. I congratulate him for his magnificent work in framing it. No tariff bill has ever had the careful consideration this one has. There has been no gag rule. There has been unanimity on the democratic side, but it has not been unanimity brought by the lash of the taskmaster. Twenty years ago we passed a tariff bill and split up. This time we pass a bill and stick together."

SERRATO IS CONVICTED

SMUGGLER IS GIVEN TWENTY-FIVE YEARS IN PRISON
BY JURY.

Thirteen More to Face Trial—The Cases Are Attracting Wide Attention.

Pearson, Texas, Oct. 3.—With the conviction today of Jose Serrato, thirteen alleged ammunition smugglers remain to be tried on the charge of murder. Serrato was the boy member of the band, and punishment of 25 years' imprisonment, after the verdict of guilty, elicited but little surprise. Lino Gonzalez, one of the older members, will be called Monday.

At the present rate it is expected the majority of the cases will have to be transferred to San Antonio for hearing. The alleged leader, Capt. J. M. Stangel, a Mexican soldier of fortune, will be tried last, and the American, Charles Cline, who insists his offense was political in connection with his work as a member of the Industrial Workers of the World, is among the last.

No filibustering has ever excited so much attention on the border before. Two of the band were killed in two battles with United States soldiers and a sheriff's posse before the others were forced to surrender, and the capture of Deputy Ortiz whom they are charged with murdering and Deputy Eugene Buck, who was released by them after undergoing severe treatment, stirred many counties.

Request for Extradition.

El Paso, Oct. 3.—A request for the extradition to Mexico of Braulio Hernandez, who is held a prisoner by the United States army at Fort Bliss, was today telegraphed to Governor Colquhitt by Military Governor Mercado of Chihuahua. Governor Mercado charges Hernandez with theft of Chihuahua state government funds while he was secretary of state under the late Governor Abram Gonzales.

Hernandez was recently arrested here by the United States army officials under the provision of Secretary of War Garrison's order that all persons taking an active part in the Mexican troubles should be detained. A habeas corpus case for his release is pending in the United States court here.

Wedding at Temple.

Temple, Oct. 3.—Miss Emma Doege, daughter of Rev. F. Doege, of the German Evangelical church, was united in marriage to Ed Holland, a fire department member here today at the bride's home, the ceremony being recited by the father of the bride. Following the ceremony the couple departed for Galveston to spend a brief honeymoon and will return to reside here.

BOYS GREAT COTTON PICKERS.

Salado Lads Willing to Meet Any Other Quartet.

Temple, Oct. 3.—The labor problem as regards cotton picking is not bothering Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Porter of Salado, twenty miles southwest of this city, who are the parents of four sons that they are willing to match against any other four boys in the world in a cotton picking contest. One day of the past week the four boys, whose ages run from 6 to 16 and whose combined weight is 265 pounds, gathered a total of 1,549 pounds of cotton. Individual records made by the boys are as follows: Bob, aged 16, picked 604 pounds; Bill, aged 11, 565 pounds; Jim, aged 8, 229 pounds, and Gene, the baby, aged 6, got away with 219 pounds. The boys picked nearly six times their own weight in cotton during the day.

WIRES TO COLLECTORS

TELEGRAMS TELL CUSTOMS OF-FICIALS IT IS IN OPERATION.

IS BUT A PART OF JOURNEY

President Likens to Half-way Inn.
Urges Continuance of Legislative Travel.

Washington, Oct. 3.—Surrounded by the leaders of a united democracy, President Wilson signed the Underwood-Simmons tariff bill at 9:09 o'clock tonight at the White House. Simultaneously telegrams were sent to customs collectors throughout the country by the treasury department putting into actual operation the first democratic tariff revision since 1894.

House and senate leaders, members of the cabinet and friends encircled the president as he slowly sat down and affixed his signature with two gold pens. He presented to Representative Underwood the pen that had written the word "Underwood" and the one which had completed his name to Senator Simmons, both of whom bowed their appreciation.

In impressive silence the president rose and delivered in easy, natural tones an extemporaneous speech that brought prolonged applause.

The president declared that the journey of legislative accomplishment had only been partly completed, that a great service had been done for the rank and file of the country, but that the second step in the emancipation of business was currency reform. He earnestly called upon his colleagues to go "the rest of the journey" with fresh impulse.

"Gentlemen, I feel a very peculiar pleasure," said the president, "in what I have just done by way of taking part in the completion of a great piece of business. It is a pleasure which is very hard to express in words which are adequate to express the feeling; because I have the feeling that we have done the rank and file of the people of this country a great service. It is hard to speak of these things without going off into campaign eloquence, but that is not my feeling. It is very profound, a feeling of profound gratitude to the workers with the splendid men who have carried this thing through with studious attention and doing justice all round. I should have had part in serving the people of this country, as we have been striving to serve the people ever since I remember."

Has Been Long Desiring.

"I have had the accomplishment of something like this at heart ever since I was a boy and know men standing around me who can say the same thing—who have been waiting to see the things done which it was necessary to do in order that there might be justice in the United States; and so it is a solemn moment that brings such a business to the front and in which I will not be thought to be demanding too much of myself or of my colleagues when I say that this, great as it is, is the accomplishment of only half of the journey. We have set the business of this country free from those conditions which have made monopoly not only possible but in a sense easy and natural. But there is no use taking away the conditions of monopoly if we don't take away also the power to create monopoly, and it is financial, rather than a merely circumstantial and economic power.

"The power to control and guide and direct the credits of the country is the power to say who shall prosper and who shall not prosper in the industries of the country, in which direction they shall be built, and in which direction they shall not be built. We are now about to take the second step, which will be the financial chamber in the business of this country free. That is what we shall do in the currency bill, which the house has already passed and which I have the utmost confidence will pass in the senate."

MEMORANDA FOR INCOME TAXPAYERS

Here are a few facts and dates that the income taxpayer must fix in his mind:

Everybody with a net income of more than $3,000 a year, if single, and $4,000 a year if married, is subject to the tax.

The taxpayer must file a return with internal revenue collector by March 1, 1914, showing all sources of his income and the deduction to which he is entitled.

All incomes are to be computed by the calendar year, but taxes for the first year will be levied only from March 1, 1913, to December 31 next.

Notification of assessments will be sent out by the government before June 1 next.

Taxes must be paid by June 30. Failure to file a return means a fine of from $2 to $1,000.

A fraudulent return makes the taxpayer liable to a fine of $2,000 or imprisonment for a year, or both.

The man whose income tax is withheld by his employer must file an affidavit by February 1 with the employer or the internal revenue collector in claiming deductions.

All holders of corporate bonds must file by the same date a statement in writing claiming exemptions from the tax if it is not to be deducted from interest payments.

DANGER OF SPLIT IN SULZER RANKS

RUMORED COUNSEL AND CON-SULTING ATTORNEYS AT LOGGERHEADS.

GOVERNOR MAY "TELL ALL"

Advisors Not Pleased With Desire to Lay Bare Whole Political History.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 3.—Rumors that Governor Sulzer and his counsel were at the parting of the ways were denied emphatically tonight by D. Cady Herrick, chief of staff. Herrick broke his "silence" only after a story had gone broadcast that several of the attorneys would withdraw from the case Monday.

"There is not a word of truth in the stories," Herrick said. "He may be having trouble with other attorneys with whom he is reported to have consulted, but not with those who have been in court with him. He will be on hand Monday and, insofar as I know every other day until the trial ends."

Herrick also denied that counsel and the governor are at loggerheads over the story Sulzer insists he will tell from the witness stand. It was reported that the governor's plan of throwing down the bars and laying bare his whole political career was distasteful to his attorneys.

"We want only one thing—the truth," Herrick said. That the governor's counsel is none too well pleased with his consulting attorneys other than those appearing at the counsel table is well known, but he has permitted the latter to have their way on all points of great import and so no serious break is expected.

This was a quiet day for both the governor and his lawyers. Sulzer went motoring and rested while attorneys Hinman and Herrick went into seclusion to map out their case. Hinman worked all day on his opening address but did not finish it.

How long it will require the defense to complete its case, not even Judge Herrick is willing to guess.

Much depends on how far the presiding judge permits the governor to go with his story. If he tells it in full as he would prefer to do, he may be on the stand two days. Also if he "tells everything" as he expressed it, the cross examination will be lengthy.

Subpoenas have been issued for fifty witnesses for the defense and if all of them are called, the governor's side of the case will not be completed during the next court week. Rebuttal testimony and the final argument will require several more days.

Artist Gordon Says Bailey's Friends
Purchased Picture and Hung
It in Capitol.

Austin, Oct. 3.—"I do not paint pictures for fun," said Boris B. Gordon of Houston, who painted the picture of Senator Joseph Bailey which has been hung in the senate chamber in the place occupied by that of Sam Houston. "If the friends of the hero of San Jacinto feel misgivings that the picture should have been removed, they should come forward and purchase it. The friends of Mr. Bailey purchased his picture and presented it to the state."

He acknowledged the claim of Mr. DeShields of San Marcos to an interest in the picture and it will be allowed to hang in the capitol in some other position.

State Vital Statistics.

Austin, Oct. 3.—During the fiscal year ending August 31, 1913, the births in Texas exceeded the deaths by 27,315, according to figures given out today by R. P. Babcock, state registrar of vital statistics. Births numbered 53,907, and deaths 26,592. Of the births 49,261 were white and 4,646 were negroes. The deaths were divided into 22,088 white and 4,504 negroes.

Wide Variance of Opinions on the Currency Measure

Washington, Oct. 3.—An attempt to determine definitely the exact position of the senate banking and currency committee on the administration currency bill will be made tomorrow. Senators Owen, Pomerene, Shafroth and Hollis, supporters of the administration bill of the committee want to get a definite idea from their colleagues as to what are the chief obstacles to a final agreement and to place a limit on the hearings, which now threaten to run for weeks.

A wide variance of opinion among both democrats and republicans has appeared in the course of the extended hearings.

It appears practically certain that at present it would be extremely difficult to secure an agreement among a majority of the committee to any particular form of currency satisfactory to the administration. During the committee continued to hear bankers from the west and south who supported the purpose of the bill and suggested amendments they thought would improve the proposed system or make it more attractive to smaller banks.

The house rules committee today refused to reach a resolution authorizing the banking and currency committee to take a thirty day trip through the country to investigate the subject of rural credits and agricultural banks. The committee decided such a trip should be postponed pending the report of the American commission which investigated rural credits abroad.

If so, what did they mean? Conceding that they meant a merchantable title, we will ask what is a merchantable title, and isn't it a fact that what one attorney would find to be a merchantable title another would object to—it's the difference of opinions that makes lawsuits.

Doesn't it behoove you to demand a title which is acceptable by everyone, a title which you can deliver to your purchaser just like you were swapping horses, deliver the title guaranty policy, which is an absolute guarantee that the title is good; not that we are always right, but when we say the title is good, that word is supported by the assets of the largest Texas Company writing Title Guaranty Insurance confidence the senate will pass much sooner than some pessimistic individuals believe. The question, now that this piece of work is done, will arise all over the country, for what do we wait? Why should we wait to crown ourselves with consummate honor? Are we so self-denying that we don't wish to complete our success?

"I was quoted to some of my colleagues in the senate those lines from Shakespeare which have always appealed to me, 'If it be a sin to covet honor, then I am the most offending soul alive,' and I am happy to say that I don't covet it for myself alone. I covet it with equal ardor for the men who are associated with me and the honor is going to come to them. I am their associate. I can only complete the work which they do. I can only counsel when they ask for my counsel. I can come in only when the last stages of the business are reached and I covet honor for them quite as much as I covet it for myself, and I covet it for the great party of which I am a member; because that party is not honorable unless it redem its name and serve the people of the United States."

"So I feel tonight like a man who is looking happily in the inn which lies half way along the journey, and that in the morning with a fresh impulse we shall go the rest of the journey and sleep at the journey's end like men with quiet conscience, knowing that we have served all our fellow-men and have thereby tried to serve God."

It was an unusual spectacle which attended the completion of a legislative reform that had been seven months in congress and embraced a tariff revision of a most far reaching character.

Happy and jubilant, the invited guests came to the executive office. They chatted and joked with the president in an anteroom while waiting for the full group to appear. When the members of the senate finance committee and house ways and means committee finally arrived Vice President Marshall was ushered into the president's office, followed by Speaker Clark, Representative Underwood and members of the cabinet and congressional committees and their friends. No photographers were admitted, as the president thought the occasion too solemn to be disturbed by flashlight apparatus. The guests crowded about the president's desk, over which an electric lamp threw a bright glow.

Signs After Business Hours.
"I chose 9 o'clock," explained the president slowly, "on the advice of the attorney general, in order that the bill might be signed after business transactions, everywhere, including San Francisco, had closed for the day."

"I will not say anything about the bill," he added with a smile, "until I have signed it. I don't want it to get away from me."

Promptly at 9:09 o'clock the president began writing, and at 9:16 he had written the words, "Approved 9:16 p. m., 3 October, 1913, Woodrow Wilson" on the one hundred and eleventh page of parchment containing the engrossed bill.

As the president rose and handed two pens to the men who had steered the measure successfully through both into the task of collecting the nation's revenue on a new basis, and with hundreds of new classifications and new provisions of law to complicate their activities.

The federal government has been spending nearly a million dollars a year and the new tariff law will raise less than one-third of that sum. Recent estimates by tariff experts in congress predict that the rates will raise $249,000,000 a year, and that the income tax will raise $122,000,000. The remainder of the government's great income is made up principally of internal revenue taxes and postal receipts.

The income tax probably will bring the new tariff law most forcibly to the attention of citizens. President Wilson and democratic leaders in congress believe, however, that the reduction of duties on clothing, foodstuffs and other necessities of life, and the complete removal of the duty from many like articles, will eventually bring a reduction in the cost of living without materially affecting business prosperity.

Comparison With Old Law.
A brief summary of the new tariff law as prepared for the senate follows:
Average percentage of tariff rates as compared to the value of all imported merchandise: old law 37 per cent; new law 27 per cent.
Value of annual imports added to the free list $147,000,000.
Estimated revenues from all import duties: old law $305,000,000; new law $249,000,000.
Estimated revenue from corporation and income taxes: Old law $37,000,000; new law $122,000,000.
Altogether, consumers in the United States probably will receive from abroad free of all tariff, more than $1,000,000,000 worth of merchandise during the next year. During 1912 the amount of "free imports" was more than $880,000,000, and when the tariff is entirely removed from wool, sugar, iron ore and cheap iron, and other important items, the total is expected to increase notably. Under the old law more than 53 per cent of all goods brought to the United States from all parts of the world paid no tariff, and the proportion will be increased by the new law.

The free wool provision of the new law takes effect December 1, 1913; the free sugar provision May 1, 1916.

Payne-Aldrich Law.
The new tariff law, passed four years after President Taft signed the existing Payne-Aldrich law, is the result of more than three years of work in congress. Hearings were started January 6, by the house ways and means committee, Chairman Underwood introduced the tariff bill July 2, immediately after President Wilson's inauguration, and the new congress. It passed the house May 8 and the senate September 9.

In the opinion of its makers, the democratic leaders of congress, the most important features of the new tariff are:
A reduction of nearly one-half in the average tariff on foodstuffs and farm products.
The placing of raw wool on the free list, and a reduction of nearly two-thirds in the tariff on woolen clothing, especially of the cheaper grades.
A reduction of one-third (average) on cotton clothing.
Reduction of the sugar tariff and its ultimate abolishment in 1916.
A reduction of one-third (average) in the tariff on earthenware and glassware.

Abolishment of all tariff on meats, fish, dairy products, flour, potatoes, coal, iron ore, lumber and many classes of farm and office machinery.
General tariff reduction on all important articles in general use.

Republican Attack.
Throughout the long fight over the bill, the republican attack on the measure has been directed against those rates which the republicans declared were so low as to threaten destruction to American industries, through the competition of foreign manufacturers. The democratic supporters of the new law have insisted that except in those cases where public welfare demanded radical changes the tariff had been reduced only to a point where it will "stimulate competition" without turning American markets over to foreigners.

A great amount of work will fall upon the treasury department, it is expected, in working out the details of the new income tax and the methods of collecting the direct taxes from individual citizens of the United States.

Carter's body is held at the Fort Worth Undertaking company's morgue. His body will be taken to Gatesville tomorrow morning, accompanied by a brother from Henrietta and a sister, Mrs. Baylor Bieche of Cleburne, who arrived here today.

Carter's mother, who lives in Bakersfield, Cal., telegraphed today to M. L. Simpson, Carter's attorney, that she would come to Fort Worth. Simpson has been retained as special prosecutor. Carter was a boilermaker, having learned the trade at the Santa Fe shops at Cleburne. He was a member of the Loyal Order of Moose. Carter and his wife formerly were proprietors of a hotel where the shooting occurred. They have no children. C. T. LIFE THEORIES BEING ADVANCED

Only One Disease and Only One Cause, Relation of New Earth Liquid.

Some scientists are advancing the theory that there is only one human disease, but that it has many manifestations. Further that there is only one cause of disease and it is termed "auto-intoxication." This may be fanciful, yet it has learned advocates.

Prof. Metchnikoff declares auto-intoxication and poisoning through microbes is the cause of disease. "Particularly injurious are the microbes of the large intestines," he says. "They penetrate the blood, impair it and their presence yields ptomaines and alkaloids."

Poisons, for instance, generated from unsanitary conditions of the bowels, affect body, brain, kidneys, stomach, liver, arteries and, in fact, all tissues. It is not contended that there is a one-cure for this so-called one disease with its one cause. The nearest approach to a one-cure is in the earth liquid, Vitalitas. It acts as a counteractant for all bodily poisons and as a vitalizing force.

Vitalitas clears and makes sanitary the liver, bowels, liver and blood. It puts vitality into all weakened organisms. Vitalitas is the marvel of the age. English Opinions of Tariff.
London, Oct. 3.—The English newspapers devote much space today to the passing by the United States congress of the Underwood-Simmons tariff bill. The Glasgow Herald prints a supplement to its edition this morning containing the complete text of the bill.

The Chronicle says:
"The president has fought and won a policy of genuine fiscal reform. The nation boldly asserting its mastery over the unclean interests that were nearly throttling it, has made an irreparable breach in the monstrous tariff wall which they had reared. For President Wilson the passage of the new tariff is a great personal triumph."

"No more remarkable man has reigned at the White House since Abraham Lincoln."

The most striking fact about the new American tariff," says the Daily Graphic, "is the extraordinary personal triumph it constitutes for President Wilson. He succeeded where Roosevelt and Taft failed. The secret of his success was his own singleness of purpose."

The new tariff must be recognized as a crushing defeat to high protection and the inauguration of an era of free trade between the United States and the rest of the world."

principles. They and I stand with our faces toward the morning; we will never be sundered from one another, and we will never yield the ground we have taken or flinch from the fight to which we are pledged."

Colonel Roosevelt in the course of his address lauded the candidates of his party in various states.

Gifford Pinchot spoke first after invocation by the Rev. J. J. Curran, of Wilkesbarre, Pa., and introduced the other speakers. Mr. Pinchot, who was chief forester in the Roosevelt administration, urged his fellow progressives to strengthen the party so that when Colonel Roosevelt returned from his South American expedition it might be "even a better instrument for the public good, even a keener weapon against the men who control this country to its hurt."

"We are living under magnate systems," said Mr. Pinchot and then declared:

The one great task that lies before us is to replace the magnate system by a system frankly and effectively directed to make the many prosperous and secure and not the few rich."

Carter's body is held at the Fort Worth Undertaking company's morgue. His body will be taken to Gatesville tomorrow morning, accompanied by a brother from Henrietta and a sister, Mrs. Baylor Bieche of Cleburne, who arrived here today.

Carter's mother, who lives in Bakersfield, Cal., telegraphed today to M. L. Simpson, Carter's attorney, that she would come to Fort Worth. Simpson has been retained as special prosecutor. Carter was a boilermaker, having learned the trade at the Santa Fe shops at Cleburne. He was a member of the Loyal Order of Moose. Carter and his wife formerly were proprietors of a hotel where the shooting occurred. They have no children. C. T. (Chad) Williams, named as co-respondent by Carter in his suit for divorce, is a bartender, according to Attorney Simpson.

DOES MAY WITH COMMERCE COURT

SENATE UPHOLDS ACTION OF HOUSE IN LEGISLATING OUT OF EXISTENCE.

IS HARD FIGHT FOR QUORUM

Sergeant-at-Arms Instructed to Arrest Senators Absent Wherever Found.

Washington, Oct. 3.—A fight to save the positions of the four remaining judges of the United States commerce court, who would be legislated out of office by the urgent deficiency appropriation bill, as it passed the house, held the senate in a continuous session which began shortly after noon today and ran until near midnight tonight. Twice the friends of the commerce court judges succeeded in carrying amendments that would keep them in office as additional circuit judges, but final action was prevented by parliamentary maneuvers engineered by Senator Hoke Smith.

The senate upheld the action of the house in legislating the commerce court out of existence and fixing the date for its termination as December 31, but did not agree with the action of the senate appropriations committee in taking away from the commerce court judges their status as United States circuit judges. After a long fight in the committee of the whole, the amendment prepared by Senator Nelson (republican) and Senator Walsh (democrat) was adopted, providing that the present commerce court judges should continue in office as additional circuit judges, but abolishing their positions whenever the present occupants resign or retire.

Drastic measures were adopted by the senate leaders to secure a quorum, the sergeant at arms being instructed to arrest absent members wherever they might be found.

Fight For Quorum.
Senators who went to the White House to witness the signing of the bill were brought back hurriedly to keep a quorum, but it was found almost impossible to maintain a sufficient membership to do business. Senator Overman in charge of the appropriation bill, and Senator Kern, the democratic leader, declined to permit adjournment, fearing that other members would leave the city and that it would be impossible to secure action on the appropriation bill for many days to come. In the confusion attending the session many important amendments were added to the bill by affirmative votes of the senate. These included provisions for the payment of claims of Americans injured along the Mexican border, the authorization of a $400,000 appropriation for a Red Cross building in Washington to be a memorial to Northern and Southern workers of the civil war and a number of other items that had not been agreed to by the appropriations committee.

The senate without a quorum finally adjourned at 11:32 o'clock. Senator Overman asked that all absent members be notified to come to Washington at once so that the senate could transact public business.

The commerce court fight will be taken up again tomorrow at noon.

Smallpox Breaks Out at Piedras Negras—Many Refugees Are at Eagle Pass.

Eagle Pass, Oct. 3.—An international quarantine is expected to be declared by American authorities within the next 24 hours on account of smallpox in Piedras Negras. Thousands of refugees have crossed to Eagle Pass since the situation between the conflicting leaders of federal forces began to threaten Piedras Negras and surrounding territory, and a grave situation is faced by the authorities. Many of the surplus of the population are penniless, even hungry, with no shelter but the streets, but reports circulated today that grain and meat would be furnished abundantly of them to recross the international boundary.

Statistics at the international bridge today showed that 11,000 people had crossed since the flight began.

Washington, Oct. 3.—F. H. Abbott, assistant commissioner of Indian affairs and acting commissioner prior to the appointment of Commissioner Sells, today tendered his resignation. It is to be effective immediately.

Senator Reed Has Personal Encounter

Washington, Oct. 3.—The senate judiciary committee room, where the recent lobby investigation was held, was the scene today of a personal encounter between Senator Reed of Missouri, member of the investigating committee, and John McIntyre, said to be a former officer of the National Typothetae, whose name figured in the Mulhall correspondence.

It is said Senator Reed struck McIntyre in the face, accompanying his action with an emphatic statement as to the falsity of certain allegations contained in an affidavit which McIntyre was supposed to have in his possession and which was said to bear on Senator Reed's action in not putting on the witness stand one of the men subpoenaed during the lobby inquiry.

Tonight Senator Reed declined to confirm or deny the story.

"You don't see any scratches on me," he said.

McIntyre left tonight for Philadelphia. He is alleged to have borne evidence of his encounter.

WIRELESS REPORTS SPOKANE IS WRECKED OFF LAZO, BRITISH COLUMBIA.

La Touche Is Standing By—Flashes Calls for All Assistance Possible.

Portland, Ore., Oct. 3.—Wireless stations here and at Corvallis have picked up messages reporting that the steamer Spokane of the Pacific Coast Steamship company, has been wrecked off Cape Lazo, B. C. The steamer Dolphin is rushing to the Spokane's assistance in answer to S. O. S. calls. A message from the Spokane said: "Sinking fast, rush help." The steamer La Touche is taking off passengers and crew. The Spokane is a passenger vessel plying between Portland and north coast points.

The steamer La Touche of the Alaska S. S. company was one of the first vessels to answer the distress call and at 10:36 tonight was standing by. Fifteen minutes later she began taking off the passengers of the Spokane.

"Taking water fast; send all assistance possible," was one of the first messages received at the wireless stations almost immediately after the first distress call which read: "Steamer Spokane, fifteen miles off Cape Lazo, wants assistance."

The steamer Dolphin and the steamer Minnesota answered the message. The Spokane is a vessel of 2,935 tons and was built by the Union Iron Works in San Francisco in 1901. She left Skagway, Alaska, on the return trip southward yesterday.

LOSSES FROM BAD ROADS

American Roads Congress Declares Lesson Profits and Increase Cost of Living.

Detroit, Oct. 3.—Declaring the loss by reason of bad roads, which everywhere lessen the profits of industry, increase the cost of living and burden business enterprises, amounts to millions of dollars annually, the American road congress, now in session in Detroit, late today adopted resolutions favoring the creation of a national department of public works, directed by a secretary who shall be a member of the president's cabinet.

Other resolutions adopted favor state highway commissions and state aid for the construction and maintenance of the main roads of the several states, the establishment of a national roads system and the construction by states, counties and towns of the lateral and connecting market highways; request the congress of the United States to authorize the president to appoint a commission from civil life to make a thorough and exhaustive report on a system of federal aid and favor wherever practical, the use of convicts in road construction and maintenance.

The resolutions also commend the Lincoln Highway association for its transcontinental highway plan and praised the work of the National Old Trails association in rebuilding the Cumberland road and the Santa Fe trail.

Today's program of the congress was turned over to the Michigan Good Roads association, which held its annual convention here today. Governor Ferris was the principal speaker.

"The good roads movement is closely allied with the religious, educational and economical feature of our country," he declared.

"With good roads we will have fewer and better churches and fewer and better ministers," he continued.

"Good roads and education go hand in hand. In states where but few good roads have been built the illiteracy ratio is high."

Tomorrow the American Road Congress will hold its final session and select a convention city for next year.

Our president, who has just returned from visiting all of the large cities in the East, found that the Parisian Ivory White Goods have become the most popular toilet articles on the market.

We had the courage to go into this matter very fully several years ago, made our connections with manufacturers and have sold more Parisian Ivory White Goods than all of the dealers in Waco combined.

Our stock is the most complete in Texas and if you will call and let Miss Sarah show you the wonderful display of these goods we are carrying in stock, you will not only be surprised, but delighted, and the prices we are offering them at are the very lowest.

Understand, too, that there is a difference in these goods. Some of the White Ivory Good are made of such thin material that they are absolutely worthless. So do not be deceived. MRS. R. J. ALEXANDER

HAS THE REVIEW CLUB
As has been reported from every single woman's organization so far, enthusiasm was the watchword of the fall season. Mrs. R. J. Alexander, of the Review club, Mrs. R. J. Alexander. This meeting was only for discussion as to what the club would do for woman's day at the Cotton Palace. It was the unanimous vote that the club as a whole would decorate handsomely an automobile, and, in its wake, all the members of the club would follow each in her own decorated vehicle. Several new members were voted into the club, these being the Mesdames William Apple, Bonnie Cross, A. T. Holder, W. T. Herrick, C. K. Durham and J. N. Leonard. MR. AND MRS. WALTER GREGG

HAVE DINNER GUESTS
In compliment to the birthday of the good husband, Mrs. Walter Gregg matronized a beautiful dinner guest. The table was unusually effective in its dress of crimson, where the Beauty rose made the natural flower tone. The place cards were much complimented, while the plate favors gave reminder of the approaching Thanksgiving tide, in their cute little fowl figures. The courses, all attractively served, occupied the dinner hour for twelve guests, these being the Mesdames and Mesdames James D. Williamson, J. W. Bass, Norman Shumate and Wilson, with Miss Nellie Dancy and Mr. Smith. Really, this was the first formal dinner of the opening season. Birthday greeting was given the genial host, and the dinner hour a prolonged pleasure. Later several couples arrived for the dancing features. The Tango and other jollity whiled the evening.

MRS. GEORGE W. OLIVER

ENTERTAINS HER CLUB
It was the regular schedule for the Emerson club to come together with middle October, but the call for Woman's Day at the Cotton Palace caused the president, Mrs. George W. Oliver, to gather the members with her on Tuesday afternoon. The attendance was quite satisfactory, and it was decided at once that the Emerson club would have a decorated float in the club section of the parade, and that this would be followed by the club members in their decorated vehicles. There was no thought but that this club would respond to the call of public co-operation. Following Mrs. Oliver introduced quite a clever little contest, an Authors Carnival. The details of a carnival were given by means of questions, each of which was answered by the name of a model in the parade. The contest was won by Mrs. F. Bailey had the nearest correct list. Mrs. Oliver also offered a refreshment plate. The meeting was thus made enjoyable as well as a prompt and cordial response to the call of the City Federation.

MRS. ROY COLMAN

SENDS NOTES OF INTEREST
From Mrs. Roy Colman has come a letter which bears directly upon Waco's recent fashion openings. Mrs. Colman is an unusually observant woman, and she has the power of expressing herself by pen in a vivid manner. She attended the fall openings of the Los Angeles shops, and thus makes comment.

"The Los Angeles Fashion Show is absolutely unique, and is considered the most artistic in America. All the large stores have their gowns displayed by means of models in the largest shop, an Italian garden on the uppermost floor had a playing fountain. Three weeks before the opening grass seed was planted, and this gave the realistic touch. Seats were provided and an orchestra furnished program. A fashion lecture was given. This began with the costumes of Catherine de Medici, in the year 1547. Program folders were distributed which gave the orchestral program, the fashion era, and the names of the designers for each piece which the models wore. This had the title, 'Promenade des Taillores.' Each era was exemplified by the living model. I found in my notes these ideas:

"Fashions have been governed by what the queen wore, in the days of the monarchy. If the queen had a beautiful neck and arms which she wished to display, she did; all the court ladies, regardless of the anatomy presented were low neck and no sleeves. The common people seeing the court appear thus, adopted the same. Thus a fashion became general. If, as in the case of Elizabeth, the queen had arms and neck which she wished to cover, out came the ruff and long puffed sleeves, the court beauties following suit. The grand-mother and mother wore the same style, the daughter followed the mother and the child the older sister, while today children's clothes are especially designed.

"The most pronounced feature of the period of Catherine de Medici was the high collar in the back, flowing sleeves, natural figure. Queen Elizabeth wore the ruff, also high starched collar in the back, long puffed sleeves. Marie Antoinette period showed powdered hair, low neck, elbow sleeves, and the child the older sister, while today children's clothes are especially designed.

MR. AND MRS. S. G. HEMPHILL

HAVE WEDDING GUESTS
A little more than a year gone by Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Hemphill came from Tyler and took residence on the South Side. This was in order that their daughter, Miss Anna Katherine Hemphill, might perfect her education in music. But the counter teacher, Dan Cupid, soon instructed in the school of love, and Harper K. Kilpatrick was his spokesman. The result brought a very pretty little home wedding into the Hemphill home. The groom comes from the well known and highly respected family of Kilpatrick at China Springs. However, five years in the city has given him a promising outlook in the cotton business, and scores of friends who took are now bestowing hearty congratulations. Into the Clay street cottage guests personally were invited for the 3 o'clock service. Cards of invitation had been sent out of town, many to Tyler, the former home of the young bride. The neighbors there included the not forgotten act of friendship by gathering from their own yards ferns in plenty and the autumn rose buds for decorating the bridal bower. Many were added here, and these were freely used in the parlor, the punch room, and the room where the ice was served and the wedding cake cut. The variety of fern fronds was remarked, and all were in the height of freshness owing to the free wedding bell, white and green made the point for the marriage vows. Rev. Ashley Chappell of the Fifth Street Methodist church was the celebrant. The door frame, fern embowered, served for the point from which to hang the wedding bell, white and green, bade from natural ferns and the fiery fern. To this the bride and her more interested came, marking their step to the strains of Lohengrin played by Miss Maude Anderson. This young bride was enveloped in her wedding veil caught in a becoming coronet of orange buds. Her gown was cut from white crepe meteor, and enriched by the now prevailing shadow lace, with pearl garniture. She carried the bride's cluster of rose bud and fern. Turning for congratulations the bride promptly given by the scores of guests present. Then all drank a health from the punch bowl banked high with ferns. Later, in the refreshment room, where the fern background together with the pink and white roses made the decoration, the wedding cake was cut and an ice offered, all showing the pink, white and green tones. Mr. and Mrs. Kilpatrick are spending a few days with the bride's parents, at Clay street, in the interim, they make their more permanent plans. They continue residence in Waco. Owing to the steady rains the guests from China Springs were disappointed in their intended presence. Others came, among them being noted Miss Della Lanford from Tyler, Miss Margaret Stedman from Taylor, James E. Hemphill from San Antonio, Grover Hemphill from Dallas. The only member of the family absent was the brother, Peter Hemphill, who is attending West Point. Several friends assisted in receiving guests and in serving, these being Mr. and Mrs. O. H. McCormack, Misses Ruth Norman, Lily Chaffin, Va. Norman, Elbow Leitch. The guests' reception, more than fifty towns, and among them were some very handsome pieces.

Society Notes.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Hardy of North Eleventh street, having leased their cottage for the winter, are with Mrs. W. E. Dumas, on the south side. The marriage of Miss Charlotte Naman and Robert Silvers will take place in December. Details will be of the simplest owing to the very recent passing away of Miss Naman's father.

Miss Ruby Reid Robinson of Lorena is receiving many compliments in advance of the opening of the Cotton Palace for the truly artistic decorative work which she is doing. Mrs. Nathan Naman is to be chaperone in a new home, placing this to the view of all her friends. And here it is not amiss to speak of the lighted candle. Several times of late the candles with the fancy shades have appeared on dinner tables at the Huaco club with no lights. This is not because style so says, but because the breeze is too stiff at the Huaco to permit the light. Otherwise if you use the candle do light it.

Mrs. Cecil Lord, who has summered in the Boggs cottage, Eighteenth and Barnard, is now located for the winter at 1221 Franklin.

The last of the Wacoans who have been summer tourists to Europe have left foreign shores.

Have you sent any invitations for the Cotton Palace? No matter who you sent or where in this city you live, send one to your town to bring some of your friends to our exposition.

Good Housekeeping says that the fleck of whipped cream on the soup, the marsh-malino on the ice cream, the bit of lemon on the egg, is not for every woman to use. Instead, garnishment is the matter of taste and the eye artistic, so every woman should practice her own individuality in adding these tiny appetizers to her dishes.

Following these ten days the most important in the church calendar, the Jewish societies will resume activity. It is anticipated that both the girls and the matrons card clubs will re-organize very soon.

Mrs. Margaret Kendall is resting from her piano teaching at Baylor university until the January term.

Do not treasure the idea that to decorate a vehicle is too expensive; remember that a little care in preservation will enable what is secured this year to be utilized next.

Slightly Strong Meat.

"Mary's Lamb" has never really been lamb. Even on the very first night Carle made it gambol on the New York stage some of it was scarcely palatable amusement mutton. Lamb does not improve with age and Mary's as served up in Carle's musical play is no exception. But this may be said of the gamol in the Auditorium last night. It was quite as brisk as the play deserves. None soldered on his part and there was no sleepy moments. Folk who went to "Mary's Lamb" when it was young, if not tender, knew exactly what they were going to get because it was a Carle-composed, Carle-led production. Folk who go to this tour of the show—and "show" fits—are either repeating or they have seen the announcement that "Mary's Lamb" is an opportunity to see "September Morn" in the flesh. Whenever dramatic method of attacking a "problem," or whenever musical comedy, stage dance or spectacle plays up somewhat too strongly the "human form divine," the purity leagues get busy and answer to their business that "spoils" the show usually embodies the motto that has to do with "thinkers of evil." "Mary's Lamb" years ago did business with the purity leagues. It will not be thus plagued on the road, however, and they who care for the play of limbs may go again, or for the first time to "Mary's Lamb" assured of a passing fair collection of limbs. Those silhouette models are still with the "Lamb"—even a little more so, a little more anatomy and less of silhouette—and "September Morn" does full justice to Chabaz's original. Den McGrath was featured as the "Lamb." He has little of Richard Carle's personality in point of champagne-dry humor, less of Carle's long-limbed briskness and none of his facial drooliness, though he can make funny faces and wear glasses on the tip of the nose. His essay at Carleisms then, succeeded chiefly as to reading the lines that make "Mary's Lamb" somewhat strong meat—the risk and frequently near-suggestive references. But pretty nearly the same standard that was pre-empted and disappointed at "Salome" the night before was pleased and diverted by "Mary's Lamb" last night—and for that reason McGrath made a hit with the major portion of the audience, and the models, en silhouette brought forth shouts of joy.

The remainder of the cast was quite sufficient for a traveling company with this play at this late day in its career. Miss Bertha Yeoman looks well, dresses well and sang soprano not quite so well. The physique of Miss Violette Rio has been noticed, and it was noticed by the enthusiastic habits of just such performances as this to the extent of many "September Morn" encores. Miss Rio is also possessed of a noticeable and rather agreeable contralto voice. Some of the fourteen musical numbers seem to hold their catchiness still and "My Madagascarese Maid," by Arthur Bell and a male chorus of five, was sung with a deal of tunefulness. "Mary's Lamb" will frisk another season with that too large portion of playgoers who want just this sort of amusement.

McFadden's Flats.
This season the old reliable, highly enjoyable and most enduring of all musical farce comedies, "McFadden's Flats," with an entirely newly written book, up-to-date tuneful music, original song hits, specialties, spectacular features and novelties. The piece is literally a new production piece is literally a new production with a new scenic adornment and sensations calculated to appeal to the most blasé amusement seekers. The cast is a large one, numbering sixty people, who are well versed in the funmaking line and who utilize their many opportunities to provoke mirth in a manner certain to insure the immediate success of an inferior or less pretentious offering. The chorus consists of thirty stunningly gowned young ladies with excellent singing voices and magnetic feminine forms, who form a delightful background for the principals. Ten new songs, especially written for the production, will be introduced during the action of the piece which is thoroughly up-to-date and entertaining in every department. The farce will be the next attraction at the Auditorium matinee today and tonight.

EASY WAY TO GET RID OF PIMPLES

Resinol Really Does What Cosmetics Are Supposed To Do.

It is so easy to get rid of pimples and blackheads with Resinol, and it costs so little, too, that anyone whose face is disfigured by these pests is foolish to keep on with useless creams, washes or complicated "beauty treatments." Here's the way to do it:

Bathe your face for several minutes with Resinol Soap and hot water, then apply a little Resinol Ointment very gently. Let this stay on ten minutes, and wash off with Resinol Soap and more hot water, finishing with a dash of cold water to close the pores. Do this every morning and evening, and you will be surprised to see how quickly the healing, antiseptic Resinol balsams soothe and cleanse every pore, leaving the complexion clear and velvety.

Resinol stops itching instantly and speedily heals eczema, and other skin humors, dandruff, sores, burns and piles. Sold by every druggist, Resinol Ointment, 50 cts. and $1.00, Resinol Soap, 25 cts. For generous free trial, write Dept. 4-M, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

MR. McNAB'S STUNT AND THE MANN ACT.

Federal Judge Pollock, of Kansas, has caused the liveliest flurry of any incident to enforcement as well as to interpretation of scope or purview of Mr. Mann's "white slave" statute. Public discussion of his recent ruling that the statute "is not intended to cover cases of transportation of women from one State to another for immoral purposes where the commercial feature of the transaction cannot be established," has generally approved the legal as well as the common sense of that ruling. This court put the situation as well as it could be put in words—the federal government does not by the Mann act seek to control a man in his "personal escapades" or regulate them. The distinction is strikingly sound. Interstate carriage of women must be procured to commercialize vice, paid prostitution must be connived at, before federal authority may invoke the operation of this statute.

So it would seem that the determination of the Caminetti and Diggs cases is not yet; that these young men may have a wide legal hole through which to escape the consequences of their San Francisco trial. For we cannot doubt that appeal of their sentences to the supreme court would result in an opinion very like that of the district judge of Kansas. We cannot believe the highest court would hold that this federal statute either was designed or written or may be interpreted as giving the government jurisdiction over personal offenses of a nature ordinarily dealt with by State criminal courts. In those San Francisco cases there was no phase of commercialization established.

There is a point in connection with the discussion of the legal firmness of Judge Pollock's holding that has not been touched. It is said Mr. Attorney General McReynolds maintains with the Kansas judge that the Mann act applies only to transportation of women for commercialized vice, and that this has heretofore been his view. There is no reason to doubt the truth of Mr. McReynolds' reported statement to this effect. This being the case, more than ever are we confident that our original estimate of ex-District Attorney McNab's attack on Mr. McReynolds for the latter's order of continuance in the Diggs and Caminetti matters, was the true estimate. Certainly a lawyer of Mr. McReynolds's experience in federal practice, as a special prosecutor and investigator for the department of justice for several years and qualified to be put at the head of the government's law department, it may be assumed, looks into the strength of cases brought under federal law. To Mr. McReynolds, the offending of Diggs and Caminetti did not come within the statute under which they were indicted, we may believe. They did not sell or attempt to sell those two young women.

Perhaps District Attorney McNab also had some inkling of the flaw in the legal situation and figured largely on the heat of public opinion in the community of the young men and young women's residence so soon after the escape, as his best card in obtaining prosecution by immediate trial. Let it be remembered one of the defendants is the son of the Democratic federal commissioner of immigration, an appointee of this administration, and Mr. McNab was a Republican holdover. There has been scoffing at this conclusion that the McNab stunt was no more than the first of several attempts in a concerted plan to embarrass the Democratic administration. We adhere to this judgment and are quite willing to believe the attorney general knew exactly the sort of case the government had in these "white slave" prosecutions in San Francisco. The federal high courts are yet to be dealt with. Judge Pollock's opinion of the purview of the Mann act is our opinion.

"Just So Clear Like Mud, Hans."
Houston in the rapid strides it is making toward taking rank among the foremost modern cities, is the marvel of every visitor, except as to its lack of up-to-dateness in the matter of paved streets.—Houston Post.

It may be our view is perverted, it may be our ignorance, but to us the foregoing is beautifully patterned with ambiguity. For how can a city be striding rapidly into the rank of the foremost if its streets are poorly paved or unpaved and the striding is bad? It is the right estimate when a visitor looks first at the streets to see if a city is modern. If the paving is behind the times is it likely he will so marvel at, or find such notable modernity in, anything else among the city's possessions as to give him to conclude the city is among the leaders?

It is very considerate of Mr. Edward Farnham Greene, president of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers, to advise the world that the new tariff is not alone to blame for conditions in that industry. If congress Republicans and the governor of Massachusetts will join Mr. Greene, that opinion will be unanimous.

Ad Captandum Vulgus.
Miss Joan Wickham is the comely advance agent to this country by the militant Mrs. Pankhurst to herald the English suffrage leader's coming.—Kansas City Star.

Americans also have seen women in mobs and have seen them throw bricks. In this land of the red lamp, the white slave and the blue law (a surviving cleverism of Mr. Franklin P. Adams) occasionally a female comes to the front with a bomb or a bottle of acid also, for we are all sorts; even is there woman-caused incendiarism ever and anon. A mere thrower of bricks and user of explosives may not hope to get the crowd's attention and keep it unless she openly indulges those practices. But we never tire of hearing a pleasant voice that issues from a pretty face, we Americans, and the Pankhurst knew what she was doing when she chose a comely press agent.

TO THE NOTICE OF CHINA'S POLITICIANS.

The conservatives and the progressives in Chinese politics, who found it so necessary two months ago to try to cement the disjointed pieces of their new government with the blood of their poor and helpless citizens of the Yangtze valley, should learn a lesson from Dr. Liang Fang, the Chinese consul general at New York City. Two powerful tongs, as the Chinese secret societies are called, had been at war for years in New York City's famous Chinatown. They succeeded in doing for their section of the great American metropolis what the politicians of China will do for their new and promising republic if they are not careful—split it. Each tong lived solely to combat the other. Brother fought brother for years. Bitter feeling, dark deeds and constant recriminations gave the colony of industrious people a bad name throughout the country.

Consul General Liang has changed all that. He went to the New York post a few months ago from the position of second secretary of the legation at Washington. He faced the terrible situation there. He did not meekly accept things as they were. He was not bluffed into joining one faction and then pretending to be friendly with the other. He did not smirk in smug officialdom before the world while his consular subjects belabored each other behind his back.

Last month the dove of peace took up permanent quarters in Mott street, the principal thoroughfare of New York's Chinese quarter. The leaders of the two warring tongs signed a peace agreement before notaries public, binding themselves and their followers to live in amity and to settle all future differences by arbitration. Dr. Liang had brought them together by months of careful work. With rare skill, and—better still—with great patience, he made his quarrelling fellow republicans see that they were tearing their colony wide open, that spite was consuming them. Finally he brought them to that which the Chinese hold sacred—their pledged word to fulfill an engagement. Now the Chinese consul general at San Francisco is trying to use the successful Liang method on the Pacific coast.

We do not know whether Consul General Liang hails from South China, Central China or North China. We do not know whether he is a conservative or a progressive in Chinese politics. All we do know is that he is a patriotic Chinese who desires above all to see his countrymen live in peace.

Let the political leaders of China learn to do for their whole country what this consul has done for the Chinese in New York. Doubtless the bickering chieftains across the sea are as patriotic at heart as Dr. Liang is. But they have not been able as yet to bury their personal differences. They have not learned that the good of all the people is more important than their own political fortunes.

It is quite certain that all of China's leaders believe in a republic. But while they quarrel over forms, the people they were chosen to serve are suffering under the misgovernment of cliques.

Subtle, Very Subtle.
The Austin courthouse has been cleared of bats, and it is claimed that several millions of the creatures were killed in the warfare against them. The owls next.—Temple Telegram.

"Bats in the belfry" is both slang and unlovely. But when some of the cases and some of the legal luminaries that have had their little day in Travis county's court house are remembered, one may not wonder that there were millions of these pests in the exodus. Owls, the Telegram remembers, sleep by day and affect wisdom in the dark. But why the owls next? Does the Telegram consider Travis county's government is in need of an entirely new personnel?

MUTUAL ADMIRATION, IF NOT COMMON ADMIRATION.

How pleasant it is for candidates for the same exalted office also to dwell together as the lieutenant governor and the senator from San Patricio purpose dwelling together! How more than pleasant, Mr. Mayes being a Statewider and Mr. Willacy an anti-Statewider.

We ring in this factional difference—which is hardly a distinction—because Mr. Willacy finds it necessary to intrude it in his admiration document dedicated to Mr. Mayes. "I do not hesitate," writes the senator, "to say that I consider him (Mr. Mayes) one of the very best men in Texas." O, the potency of that abused little word, "very." It was the pet aversion, was "very," of the late Dr. Adams Sherman Hill, of Harvard, and is despised of other eminent teachers of what is good English, or what they think is good English. But it is a word of much power, nevertheless.

"Although expecting to compete with him for the gubernatorial nomination," Mr. Willacy finds pleasure in paying tribute to our lieutenant governor's personal worth. For he considers Mr. Mayes "one of the very best men in Texas."

Perhaps the senator even considers Mr. Mayes the second best man in Texas. For "very" scarcely has limit of meaning, we think, when applied by rivals each to the other's virtues. We also have given deserved commendation of Mr. Mayes' honesty, courage of convictions and ability and could veritably give like commendation of Mr. Willacy's possession of these attributes of good character.

We have not liked Mr. Mayes' conclusion that it was necessary for him to emphasize in his announcement his attitude on the question of Statewide—and have said so—and we like no better Mr. Willacy's emphasis on this, his point of difference from Mr. Mayes' views.

We want a candidate so strong in personal repute and recognized ability that he can convince Texas the time is come to forego even discussion of this factional dispute; that the time is come for a state administration that will and can spare no time from the State's business of development to indulge extrinsic political controversies, especially controversies that can bring nothing but political and personal bitterness of the sort that has retarded Texas's advance and has vitiated many an honest attempt to obtain laws essential to that development.

We want a candidate who can unite the real patriots of Texas, not the lip patriots.

Messrs. Willacy and Mayes doubtless have sufficient grounds for mutual admiration on character considerations. But if they cannot keep the liquor question out of their candidacies there will be no admiration for them common to the thinking, patriotic mass of the Texas electorate.

If we thought either Mr. Mayes or Mr. Willacy were wholly fitted to be governor of Texas, as measuring up to the requirement as a developer we prescribe, we would vote for him no matter what were his personal views on the prohibition question—only asking that he keep quiet about them.

Texas needs a great governor, not a "sincere" pro. or a "sincere" anti. It needs a candidate for governor so big that all the prohibition caucuses in Christendom and all the anti-saloon leagues and all the liquor interests, contriving together or separately, could not detract a farthing's worth from his candidacy that would be dedicated to the upbuilding of Texas.

The Spoil-Sport Gendarme.

Texas Viewpoints.

Too Me.

None of Dallas Times Herald's reporters and headlineists has shown he lacks a sense of humor, but the combination that produced the following, headed, "Burn Up Wires to Save Morsals of Texas Capital," deserves commendation for its sprightliness and satire:

Mayor Holland was dragged out of a park board meeting Wednesday morning to answer a frenzied telegram from Mayor A. P. Woolbridge of Austin, concerning the morality of the opera, Salome, which is about to open for a one-night stand at the capital city.

"I hear that the opera of Salome which was rendered in your city is grossly immoral. Kindly wire me at my expense your just and practical judgment of the play."

This is what Mayor Holland replied: "I did not see Salome. Refer you to dramatic critics. Tom Piny, Jr., assures me that Salome is moral play."

Tom Piny having reported the last inaugural ball at Austin, is eminently qualified to judge the morality of the opera, according to Mayor Holland.

Mayor Holland also is something of a satirist, if indeed he is responsible for the conclusion of that bright bit. We did not know that even so remarkable a versatility in writing as that possessed by Mr. Piny was plagued by being required to deal with Austin's inaugural balls, but if Mr. Piny did report that fete of grace and contentions, the Benueci's writings probably impressed him not at all and he performed found nothing immoral in Massenet's "Salome." But to what glorious heights of a cold, crystal-clear, snow-capped morale has our capital come! Boston's mayor has nothing on Austin's in solicitude for the goodness of his people—even to the extent of a censorship of grand opera. To the pure are all things pure. Then, perhaps, Austin needs her mayor's guidance and censorship—for what shall be said of that city's average in purity when those among her citizenship usually accepted at their face and calling value as the purest of the pure have been finding so much of evil in the city—and have been educating the adollescing in the operation of "the lure"? (We are indebted to two gentlemen on the Dallas Times Herald.)

Brenham Banner-Press.
Brenham Banner has been a newspaper long deserving of welcome to any exchange table. Brenham Press has been equally interesting; both papers were live, conscientious builders of their city and were edited on a policy that showed breadth and talent. Within the week the Banner has taken over the Press; the Brenham Banner-Press is now the city's evening newspaper and will also have a weekly edition, but will not publish on Sunday. The Banner-Press's announcement of the consolidation says: "The Banner was established in 1866 and has been running continually, never missing an issue." That is an excellent record. And the Press is only 20 years young. We look for a career for the Banner-Press quite as full of years as, and much more replete with distinguished community service than were the careers of the two publications under the original and more recent managements. The Banner-Press has our every good wish.

Ain't It H. To Be P?
This is a week of "brenning" invitations in two senses. First of all, the Young Men's Booster Club of Hamilton brought forth a "Booster Banquet," Friday night, and Hamilton Herald's editor, our friend G. H. Boynton, lately sent us a lively letter telling us to break banquet with the boosters. But we had to let the Hamilton club enjoy life as best it could without us. Now drops in our lap an alluring summons from the big-hearted Col. L. M. Green, editor of Tyler Courier-Times, to the East Texas Fair that will attract thousands to his now traction-lined burch the 13th to 17th insts, inclusive. The names of invitation committeemen, officers and directors that adorn the de luxe summons assure that we will miss one of those really big events it is always our lot to miss—if we have to miss this fair. East Texas does every hospitable thing unexcelled and considers her fair the great annual event of hospitality. But whether we go to or whether we must remain away from these gala gatherings, we are sure those who would be our hosts realize we publish every day and must be on the job no less regularly at this time of year. They realize, too, we are very grateful for the courtesy of these invitations and that they have our wishes for the success of the occasions.

Our Neighbor, Waco.
(Hamilton Record.)
A season is approaching when our neighbor, Waco, will be most alluringly attractive, for soon she will be offering her generous hospitality to all Texas and will entertain us with the great Cotton Palace, the pride of Central Texas. Waco's hospitality is proverbial and finds expression in many ways during the season of her greatest entertainment, especially in the way of hotel accommodations, which are generously and fairly given to the thousands of guests for the same prices charged at other times during the year. And several new hotels and boarding houses, all first-class, are to be opened up this fall prior to the opening of the Cotton Palace in Texas which is in Hamilton. Hamiltonians are already beginning to feel little thrills of expectancy because Waco offers the only great entertainment in Texas which is in season of all classes because of the equitable charges made on every feature or phase of sightseeing and the pleasures incident to such a trip. There is, also, a friendly atmosphere lingering about Waco that gives a homey feeling to every visitor within her gates. Hamilton feels an especial interest and pride in Waco's great entertainment because of our relation as good neighbors. She has for almost a century maintained this relationship without deviation or shadow of turning. Since our connection by railway, Waco has been us with great rain loads of her most prominent business and professional men as well as private citizens on occasions of public entertainment. The special editions of her great dailies have boasted Hamilton, and repeatedly have been the recipients of the flattering and very advantageous compliment of visit from that noted band, the Waco Young Men's Boosters. Waco is an ideal neighbor in that she has never poked her aristocratic nose into our affairs, but on the other hand has never failed to herald Hamilton's success in her own way, and has vicariously gained a great public facility in securing a great public facility, or any other enterprise into which she launches.

The officials of the Texas Cotton Palace, the worthy citizens and their wives of Waco, and the great wealth of Central Texas have united this year in making the show bigger in every respect than the previous years of the annual festival. Every crowd of the optimistic people expect to go there by the hundreds and be received cordially as is the custom of Waco.

For Hill County's Roads.

Hill County Mirror.
Those who do not think that the poor condition of Hill county's roads are being well advertised, are invited to take a glance through the columns of the Hill County Mirror. Changes which come to our table, Hill county is getting warm enough "roasts" from the press in every section to make her black mud into everlasting tulpans.

This morning's Waco Morning News, while urging action, sides with the Dallas Times Herald in a statement of facts concerning conditions in Hill county. Every citizen is as strong as its weakest link, and that being the case, the three great cross continental highways which are routed through Hill county are in something of "a fix." Every citizen is as strong as its weakest link, and that being the case, the three great cross continental highways which are routed through Hill county are in something of "a fix."

It seems incredible that the people of the richest county in the state should sit quietly and watch other counties, less favored by nature, construct miles of good roads, while we stand by and do nothing. Nobody is doing anybody else in this county a favor when he advocates good roads and assists in bringing about their construction. Don't get the idea. Every fellow just does himself a favor when he endorses to bring about permanent improvement of the county roads.

Split-log drag enthusiasts argue for their method. The split-log drag is the thing, but it is of temporary value. When the weather is good, Hill county people don't have to worry about the roads anyway. When the weather is bad, the split-log drag cannot be of service. Hence the roads, in bad weather, are impassable.

Some have argued that the permanent paving cannot be put down in black lands; that it will not last. There never was a problem which couldn't be solved, and we suggest that experts be set to work on this problem—government experts whose knowledge of these matters will cost us nothing. Other black land counties are putting in good, permanent roads, it is claimed. What section needs good roads more than the black lands of Texas?

Waco and The News.

Our Latest Interurban.

(Dallas Times Herald.)
The silver spike has been driven, the shouting and the speech-making are over, the Hon. Patrick O'Keefe has finished his Irish jig and is today presenting that dignified appearance which befits a prospective federal official and the new interurban from Dallas to Waco is a fact. This city, easily the interurban center of the southwest, now presents one more claim to that title. The longest interurban in the south calls Dallas its home.

As a factor in the material prosperity of city and country, as a means of drawing the dwellers on the farm and the dwellers in the city closer together, the interurban is a notable feature of present-day progress. Contributions to President Strickland. We remember, as a boy, reading a book with the alluring title of "From Farm Boy to Senator." To have risen from farm boy to the presidency of a big interurban system is no less a notable feat. President Strickland's rise should be an encouraging example to the young man who would do things.

A True Friend of Education.
(The Daily Texan, State University.)
The Waco Morning News is a true friend of higher education. Its educational policies are broad in the true sense of the word. Published at Waco, the site of Baylor university, one of the most influential denominational schools in the south, the News never loses an opportunity to speak a good word for the University of Texas. It loyally supports both institutions.

Juste Penn's Lost Loan.
A queer death is reported from Waco. A man touched a barbed wire fence with his wet umbrella. The fence was charged with electricity from an electric light wire of heavy voltage, and the man was killed. We are not in much danger since the last umbrella we owned was lent to a friend, but we are steering clear of barbed wire fences.—Laredo Times.

Marlin Wants a Line.
Builders of interurban lines seem to have overlooked one of the richest fields in Texas, that is a line between Temple and Marlin. Such a line would give Texas' greatest health resort direct connection with the west and southwest, and would relieve those long and tiresome waits at Waco and pay the builders a dividend, we believe.—Marlin Democrat.

Col. Bailey Refuses.
A Waco man writes that his candidate for governor must be a man who has never tasted kicher, used tobacco nor cussed. He needn't think he is hurting our feelings. We wouldn't have the old office.—George M. Bailey, in Houston Post.

The Proposed City Charter

The sub-committee of citizens engaged in the preparation of a new charter for the city of Waco has completed the draft of the document, which is to be submitted to the people later for their adoption or rejection. It is a lengthy document. Believing the people are interested in the charter, the Morning News will publish it in daily installments. These installments can be preserved and when the publication is complete the clippings will make a complete charter.

Taxation.

Art. 209. The board of commissioners shall have power to levy taxes and provide by ordinance for assessing and collecting the same, and to determine when and how and by whom all such taxes shall be paid and to enforce the prompt collection thereof; provided, that no tax shall be levied unless by vote of three-fourths of the commissioners elected.

Art. 210. Said board shall have power by ordinance to annually levy and collect a general or special ad valorem taxes for any purpose not inconsistent with the constitution of this state on the assessed value of all property, rights and franchises in said city subject to state taxes, not to exceed, however, for all purposes except the support and maintenance of public free schools in said city, two per cent of the taxable values in said city, and shall provide a mode and method of assessing the same, and of the collection using or occupying the public streets or grounds of the city separate from the tangible property of such corporation.

Art. 211. Should the revenue of the city for any one year be not sufficient to meet the legitimate expenditures for said year thereby creating a deficit or should there be such deficit at the time this charter is adopted, it shall be the duty of the board of commissioners to include the amount of such deficit in its budget of expenses to be provided for at the next succeeding tax levy, and the city auditor shall include the same in the estimate which he is required to furnish to the board of commissioners annually of all the revenues and expenses from which such budget is made, and said board shall fix a rate of taxation for said year sufficient to pay off said deficit, charge such deficit, as well as meet the estimated current expense of said year; provided, that no deficit or deficits shall ever hereafter exceed at any one time the sum of fifty thousand dollars, and that any excess over said amount shall be absolutely null and void.

Art. 212. In addition to said two per cent said board shall, by ordinance, annually levy and collect a tax of one-half of one per cent ad valorem taxes of the assessed value of all such property for the support and maintenance of public free schools in said city.

Art. 213. Said board shall have power to provide by ordinance for the assessment and collection of all taxes, and to make such rules, regulations and mode of procedure to enforce the collection by and payment to the assessor and collector of all taxes as it may deem expedient, and to this end may provide that the city assessor and collector shall have and exercise like powers and duties in the collection of all taxes as are given and imposed by law upon county tax collectors with reference to advertisement, seizure and sale of property, or may provide any other or whatever procedure to enforce payment thereof to the assessor and collector before suit therefor.

Art. 214. All ad valorem taxes levied by the board of commissioners shall become due and payable on the first day of October in each year, and the same shall be paid before the first day of March thereafter, and if not so paid, a penalty of ten per cent of the amount of such taxes shall accrue and be added thereto and enforced and collected in the same manner as such original taxes.

Art. 215. The board of commissioners shall have the right to sit as a board of equalization and to exercise the powers and duties of equalizers' court when sitting as a board of equalization as conferred by general law or may appoint such board of equalization with like powers and duties, provided, that at least one member shall be placed upon such board of equalization each year if appointed by the board of commissioners.

Art. 216. It shall have power to levy and collect an annual tax not to exceed one-half of the amount levied by the state, of every male inhabitant of said city between the ages of 21 and 66 years, (idiots and lunatics excepted), who is a resident thereof at the time of such annual assessment.

Occupation and License Tax.

Art. 217. The board of commissioners shall have power to levy and collect an occupation and license tax subject only to constitutional and legal limitations, and shall levy and collect such license tax upon all vehicles of every kind and character except bicycles and upon the streets of the city, which may be divided into different classes according to kind of vehicle, purpose used, public or private, etc., and to direct the manner of issuing and registering licenses, and the fees and charges to be paid therefor.

Art. 218. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation or association of persons, to enter upon, engage in, or begin doing anything or business subject to a license or commission ordinance of the city without first having obtained from the assessor and collector of taxes said license, and the board of commissioners shall have power to enforce the same by penal ordinance, and may make any other rules and regulations for observation and inspection thereof as it may deem proper and to make the failure to observe such ordinance a penal offense.

SECTION XXVI.

Fire Department and Prevention of Fires.

Art. 220. The board of commissioners shall maintain a fire department, and said department as now organized shall remain until changed by said board, except as otherwise provided in this charter; and said board shall change the same to a full paid department within twelve months from the adoption of this charter, and it may by ordinance establish such regulations for the prevention and extinguishment of fires as it may deem expedient; and generally exercise and enforce all needed measures necessary for this purpose, the intention of this article being to clothe said board with full power to prescribe rules and regulations for the organization, government and maintenance of said fire department, subject to other provisions of this charter, and for the prevention and extinguishment of fires and to provide the means therefor.

Art. 221. Said board shall have power to appoint a building and fire inspector, who shall have had at least ten years practical experience in the construction of buildings, or a building inspector with such qualifications and a fire inspector, as it may deem best, and to prescribe all necessary rules and regulations for the construction and inspection of all buildings and fires.

Removal of Dangerous Structures.

Art. 222. Said board shall have power to condemn and cause to be torn down and removed, any building, fence, shed, awning, sign or any erection of any kind whatsoever, or any part thereof, which is in the judgment of said board is liable to fall, or from any other cause to endanger the safety of persons or property, and may order the owner or his agent or other person using the same to take down and remove it or any part thereof, within such time as said board may direct; and to pass such ordinances as may be necessary to punish by fine any neglect, failure or refusal to comply therewith.

Art. 223. Said board shall have power to establish and designate fire limits and to prescribe the kind and character of buildings, structures or improvements which may be erected therein, and to provide for the erection of fire-proof buildings within certain limits, and for the condemnation of dangerous or dilapidated structures or buildings calculated to increase the fire hazards, and the manner of their removal or destruction.

Art. 225. It shall have power to prevent gunpowder, or any other explosive material, gasoline, kerosene, or any other explosive oils or inflammable oils being stored within the city limits in such quantities as to injure the safety of persons or property and to make all rules and regulations in regard thereto.

ENTOMBED MAN IS CHEERFUL

In Spite of Disappointment at Not Being Freed, Keeps Up His Spirits.

Centralia, Pa., Oct. 3.—Cheerful in the face of disappointment because he was not reached today, as expected from the glisole, 1st floor below the surface where he has been entombed for more than seven days, Joseph Tosheky called through his food tube to rescuers tonight that he was satisfied everything possible was being done to get him out and that he was content to spend another night behind the wall of coal. Mine officials directing the rescue work at the Continental Colliery where Tosheky was caught behind a fall of coal which robbed pillars last Friday morning, assured him last night that he would be liberated about noon today. But the rescuers struck a particularly hard body of coal today and still were six or eight feet away from the imprisoned man at a late hour tonight. The officials, however, felt certain that he would be reached by daylight tomorrow.

"Tell my wife I'll eat dinner with her Saturday sure," was the cherry message sent up through the tube. "I'm feeling fine today," much better than I have since the mine caved in on me. I feel mighty strong and know I can help you boys get me out by digging from this end. If I only had some meat I could work twice as fast."

The work of rescue Tosheky is said by the engineers in charge to establish a record for the Pennsylvania anthracite region. For five days the imprisoned man was without food. During that time he alleviated the pangs of hunger with tobacco as he told the rescuers after communication was established with him. Tuesday night a tube was forced through the barrier from an adjoining chamber and a small quantity of solid food was sent down to him. Later came a change of clothing, blankets and rope from which he wove a hammock in which to sleep. Up to that time Tosheky had complained most of the cold water on the floor of his cell which made it impossible for him to lie down. His nerve has been splendid all through the ordeal, men working to dig him out say, several times he has exchanged jokes with them.

INDIANAPOLIS CLUB IS SOLD

American Association Franchise and Players Bring $165,000—Largest Ever Paid for a Minor.

Indianapolis, Oct. 3.—The Indianapolis American Association baseball club was sold here today by Sol Meyer, owner, to James C. McGill, George A. Wahlgreen and Jack Hendricks of Denver. The purchase price, said to be $165,000, is declared to be the largest ever paid for a minor league organization.
The disposal of the franchise by Mr. Meyer comes after a year of futile effort to build up a winning organization. He became owner during the summer of 1912 and that season and the one just ended the team finished in last place in the association race.
Since 1908 when the local club won the association pennant, baseball from an Indianapolis standpoint has been disappointing, and attendance has been poor. The season just finished was particularly disappointing to the owner.
Mr. McGill for years has been the president of the Denver team of the Western league. He and his associates expect to begin work at once toward building up the local team.

Austin, Oct. 3.—The University of Texas defeated Fort Worth Polytechnic college here in the opening game of the football season on Clark field, 14 to 7. The game was close and interesting throughout. Texas won the game in the last quarter. Captain Brown entered the game only within the last five minutes of play and carried the ball through Poly's defense on their three yard line for a touchdown and then kicked goal.

New York, Oct. 3.—New York won the first game of a double-header with Philadelphia 13 to 3, while the second game resulted in a 4 to 4 tie, called on account of darkness at the end of the ninth inning.

The champions hammered Camnitz and Finneran in the first game, while the Quakers could do little with Tesreau's delivery.

In the second game Manager McGraw went to a makeshift team in both games. Snodgrass played first base during a part of the first game and favored his bad leg. Doyle seemed to have recovered from his injury. The scores—First game—R. H. E. Philadelphia 000 000 210—3 11 1 New York 111 023 12—13 15 1 Camnitz and Killefer, Tesreau, Demaree and Wilson.

Boston 3-7, Brooklyn 1-0.
Boston, Oct. 3.—By defeating Brooklyn 3 to 1 and 7 to 6 in today's double-header Boston clinched its hold on fifth place in the national league. ARE TO PUT STOP TO "FAKE" STORIES

Ban Johnson Says Players May Write for Newspapers, But Cannot Allow Names Signed to Articles Not Written by Themselves.

Chicago, Oct. 3.—Baseball players who will write their own newspaper stories of the world's, or, rather, post season series, may do so with the approval of the National Commission, President Johnson of the American league said last night upon his return from a brief vacation in Michigan. Players who lend their names for a monetary consideration to be signed to articles written by others probably will be declared ineligible to take part in such series, said Mr. Johnson. He did not favor the suggestion reported to have been made by Chairman August Herrmann of the National Commission to call off the world's series in case players permitted the misuse of their names. The purpose of the commission is not to prevent players earning extra money in any legitimate way, said President Johnson, but to stop the faking which is bound to result in a serious injury unless it is curbed.

Strenuous Games for the Eastern College Elevens

New York, Oct. 3.—Football games of a more strenuous character than heretofore will mark the opening of the October gridiron schedules in various parts of the country.

In the east the games to be played by Pennsylvania and Cornell will be watched with unusual interest because both the Quakers and the Ithaca eleven face colleges which last year scored decisive victories against them. The University of Pennsylvania has what looks to be the hardest contest of the day, for in Lafayette the Red and Blue faces perhaps a dozen eleven that which won by a score of 7 to 3 over the Quakers last autumn. The Quakers, although without the assistance of Captain Young, are a far more formidable combination than a year ago and hope to reverse the result of 1912.

Oberlin College, which defeated Cornell 12 to 0 last season, is not represented as strong a team this year, while the Ithaca eleven has demonstrated that it is slowly regaining the place in football circles that the big red teams won for Cornell in past years.

In other respects the schedule of eastern games contains little that is out of the ordinary. Harvard meets Bates in what is little more than a practice game and Yale has the University of Maine on which to try some of Tom Shevlin's alleged new plays.

A week ago Harvard defeated Maine 24 to 0 and naturally the Elis' work an endeavor to draw an early season comparison between the two big varsity elevens which meet late in November. The Army and Navy elevens both will start the season on an even footing tomorrow, for the navy eleven will play the University of Pittsburgh at Annapolis and the Military Academy faces Stevens Institute at West Point.

Among other eastern games tomorrow are: Fordham at Princeton, Carleton at Ithaca, Hamilton at Syracuse, Colby at Dartmouth.

Conference Elevens Appear in Their First Battles Today

Chicago, Oct. 3.—Football battalions of the central states swing into battle lines tomorrow in a series of conflicts which signalize, among other things, the opening of the campaign for the conference championship.

Chief interest is the first clash of two "big nine" elevens, Chicago meeting Indiana in a game that carries extra importance because of the unusual strength the Hoosiers showed last Saturday against Depauw. Each eleven includes what critics call a strong back field and chances appear about even for the contest. The game will be a leading feature of the ceremonies incident to the dedication of Chicago's new stadium. Two thousand or more Indiana alumni and students are expected to attend.

to Texas this year, for the game with the University of Texas, the strongest team which has been produced by the Sooners, according to a report to the Morning News from Norman, Okla., yesterday.

Ten of the letter men of last year have returned, with the whole back field intact, and in addition the best new material has been developed which the school has seen in several years.

The opening game, played last Friday with Kingfisher College, resulted in a last year the score was only 40 to 0. The rest of the schedule for the season is as follows: October 4—Central State Normal, at Norman. October 10—Northwestern State Normal at Norman. October 18—Missouri University at Col-

BAYLOR IS IN FINE FETTLE

Grid Gladiators of Local University Will Put Up Good Fight Today.

With a week of added experience, the Baylor football team is expected to exhibit a better sample of the gridiron science this afternoon when they take on the eleven from San Marcos Academy than they did a week ago in the pre-season contest with the Howard Payne aggregation from Brownwood. With the defects of the team exhibited a week ago, Coach Payne has been directing his energies this week to correcting these deficiencies as largely as he could, and he expects a good game from his men this afternoon.

The San Marcos Team.
From all accounts the San Marcos bunch also will put up a stronger article of football than the Brownwood aggregation did last week. They have been in training since early in August and John Potts, star Baylor football player, has developed the strongest eleven that institution has ever put out. A good game seems to be insured in spite of the wet field. The indications are that the field will not be as heavy today as it was a week ago, and more running is anticipated as a result.

Last Pre-Season Match.
More punting and surer tackling may be expected from the Baylor boys today, while the strengthening of the line during the past week indicates that there will be no repetition of last Saturday's stunt, when a Howard Payne man broke through the line when the Baptists were not watching and made the only touchdown which the visitors could get up, and that in the last two minutes of play.

Today's game is the last pre-season match that will be played this year and the formal opening of the inter-collegiate season for Baylor will come next Saturday, when the opposing eleven will be the Chicago College, Fort Worth. Polytechnic College, the University at Austin yesterday and Texas will be taken on by Baylor in Austin October 16.

This May Be Last of World's Series

New York, Oct. 3.—This year may be the last to see a world's series, according to baseball gossip here. In many quarters agitation for the abandonment of the championship games each fall and the substitution of an interleague postseason series in which all of the sixteen major league clubs could share, has been going on for some time.

According to reports here, at least one of the three members of the National Commission has suggested that it may be feasible to do away with the world's series after this year. It is said that August Hermann, chairman of the commission, and owner of the Cincinnati club, has brought the idea with a plan that the regular league seasons be reduced to 112 games in each league, to be followed by an interleague schedule of 64 games, by which each National team would play four games at home and four abroad with each American league team. The turning percentage for the two schedules might determine the title of world's champions.

The present wrangle between members of the New York and Philadelphia teams who will be parties to the championship fight this year and the National Commission because of the rule prohibiting series players from writing or allowing the use of their names over newspaper stories, has given impetus to the argument for the abandonment of the big series after this year.

Those arguing for such action point out that out of sixteen major league clubs only four have shared in the world's series spoils since 1909.

AUSTIN COLLEGE 41, TRINITY 0.
Sherman, Oct. 3.—Austin College defeated Trinity University here today by the score of 41 to 0. Griggs starred for Austin College, while Ferguson showed up well for Trinity. The work of the new men on the Presbyterian squad was very good.

Oklahoma 63, Central State 0.
Oklahoma City, Oct. 3.—The 1913 football season in Oklahoma was opened today by colleges and schools throughout the state. Oklahoma State University defeated the Central State Normal by a score of 63 to 0.

New York	56	94	.373
St. Louis	53	91	.368

Philadelphia, Oct. 3.—This was an unfortunate day for the Philadelphia champions, because the weather was too cold and blustery for their pitchers to get a good tuning up for the world's series, and unfortunately for Orr, the first substitute infielder, suffered a broken right hand.

Philadelphia won the first game 13 to 10 and New York the second, which was called on account of darkness at the end of the sixth by 2 to 1. Orr's injury was received in the second game, when he touched out Hartzell who tried to steal third in the fourth inning. Hartzell's spikes were driven into Orr's hand and one of the bones fractured. This was the second accident of the series with New York. Catcher Schang having had his hand hurt by a foul tip yesterday.

Plank and Shawkey, who are believed to be Manager Mack's second and third choices for pitching in the world's series, did not look good in today's opening game. This probably was largely due to the cold high wind. Plank pitched three innings and in the second inning was touched up for three singles. Plank also gave two passes. Shawkey was in poor form and was taken out in the sixth. In his first two sessions Shawkey gave two passes and was hit early three times.

In the sixth inning, after the bases were filled on an infield single and two passes, with one out Shawkey forced in two runners by giving two more passes on balls. He was succeeded by Bush.

Philadelphia's victory was due to hard hitting off Caldwell's delivery. Fifteen hits, including two homers, were made by Philadelphia while Caldwell gave a number of passes.

In the second game Manager Mack put in a brand new team, consisting of youngsters and Daley, Walsh and Davis. New York will again play Philadelphia tomorrow, when it is expected that Plank and Shawkey will get their final preparation for the world's series. The scores: First game—R. H. E. Philadelphia 103 022 10—13 15 2 Caldwell and Sweeney; Plank, Shawkey, Bush and Lapp.

Second game—R. H. E. New York 100 001—2 6 0 Philadelphia 000 000—1 6 0 Fisher and Sweeney; Wyckoff and McAvoy.

Boston 2-3, Washington 0-11.
Washington, Oct. 3.—By breaking even in their double-header here today Washington clinched second place and Boston fourth in the American league race. The Red Sox took the first game 2 to 0, mainly through the air-tight pitching of Leonard, who held the locals to two hits. Shaw, a Washington recruit from York, Pa., was hit hard. The second game became a farce before it was half finished. Moseley was wild and ineffective and lasted five innings. In turn, relieved him, the former went two innings and held the locals scoreless, while Lewis was hit for a double and two singles. The scores: First game—R. H. E. Boston 010 001 00—2 6 0 Washington 000 000—0 2 2 Leonard and Nunamaker; Shaw, Gallia and Henry.

Second game—R. H. E. Boston 011 100 000—3 8 2 Washington 001 000 02—11 14 3 Moseley, Hooper, Lewis and Thomas; Bechler, Hughes, Dawson, Hedgcock and Altmith.

World Series Celebrities—Schang vs. Meyers

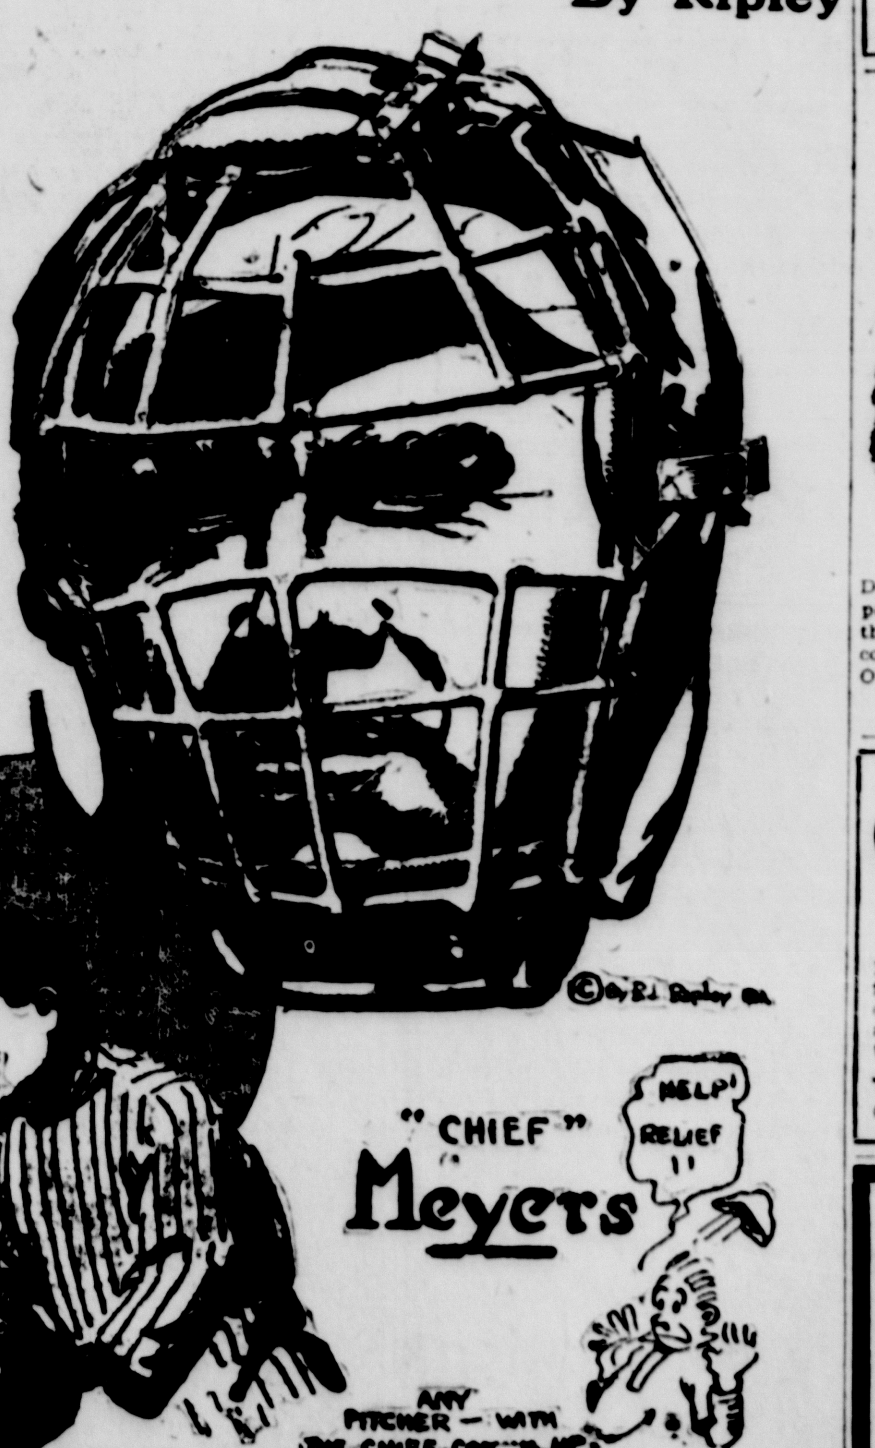

BOTH catchers—world's series catchers. You know Meyers as such, but you know Schang more familiarly as a member of the "Schuch" family. Allow us to hint that you will know him even better as a catcher along about the middle of this month.

Walter Schang, the Buffalo boy, the razzing, dazzling 1913 "find" of Connie the canny is only playing his second year as a professional. Mack drew him out of a hat last year. There were twelve other drafts in the derby, but aw! well—you know, lucky Connie Mack!

Bright, active and fast, a good hitter and—and—we will not say a word about his great throwing arm, all we shall say is that he is one of the fellows that they fight about when the argument comes up as to who is the best catcher in the American league, and that he only has to play to form to be one of the sensations of the series. Not a word more.

Watch Schang, and watch Connie Mack, poor, unfortunate Connie—it's too bad about Connie—watch him, too. Watch him smile. 'Nuff about John Tortes Meyers. The great silent Indian of the West is still as reliable as he is great. Playing with the quiet fortitude of his race, he works on steadily and brilliantly, never shirking and uncomplaining. He leads the team in hitting and his big bat still instills confidence in his cohorts and fear in the enemy. You don't have to watch the "Chief."

FRANCHISE TO STOUGH ASSURED

COMMISSION DEFERS ACTION ONLY TO COMPLY WITH A LEGAL DETAIL.

RIVAL PETITION IS PRESENTED

Smith of Mexico and Associates of Projected Natural Gas Company to Be Heard Later.

But for the fact that it is necessary to publish the franchise ordinance granting to George W. Stough and associates the right to use the streets and alleys of Waco for the laying of natural gas mains one more time before it can be legally enacted into a law, the city commission would have yesterday morning passed the franchise ordinance finally. Because of this detail final passage was delayed until Tuesday next. Publication of the ordinance will be made today.

Smith's First Hearing.
 Two applications for franchise to pipe natural gas into Waco were before the commission yesterday morning. These were the franchise of George W. Stough and associates, which had been passed to its third reading and that of T. F. Smith, which was presented for initial consideration. Because the commission had entered into the project with Mr. Stough first they took the position that he was not going to take advantage of the franchise. It would not be proper to grant or begin the passage of another franchise. This together with the fact that the franchise applied for by Smith and associates did not contain the liberal terms which the commission believed it should embody, were the principal reasons why that franchise was tabled.

Objectionable Features.
 The principal objection to the Smith franchise was that section which provided that the holders of the franchise would not be compelled to furnish gas for fuel or boiler use unless there was a surplus over the amount of gas necessary to furnish domestic users. Another objection was the refusal of the applicants to agree to not furnish other towns with gas until Waco is supplied with all the gas the city might require. Mayor Mackey said he understood they would apply to other towns for a franchise with the idea of furnishing domestic gas to a number of towns at 50 cents per 1,000 cubic feet, refusing to supply boiler or manufacturing gas to Waco.

unless there is a surplus after the domestic service is given.

Ready for the Vote.
 Three amendments were made to the Stough franchise, which is now ready for final passage. The most important of these was an amendment which provides that users of gas be required to pay for only the amount of gas used each month. This is aimed at fixing or preventing the fixing by the company of a minimum rate. The amendment was inserted so as to read, "only actual gas used per month to be paid for." In the past a minimum rate of so much per month has been fixed by the service company and consumers were required to pay this minimum charge each month, whether they used that amount of gas or not.

Boiler Gas Provision.
 Another amendment was inserted providing that gas should be furnished "in gas or internal combustion engines." This comes under the head of boiler gas and was inserted as it is said when natural gas is used the manufacturers using such fuel would install gas or internal combustion engines.

A maintenance clause left out of the original franchise was also inserted. This amendment was the company "shall maintain a supply of gas for domestic and industrial purposes during the life of the franchise."

With these amendments the franchise was ordered finally published and will in all probability pass finally at Tuesday's meeting.

Gorsuch, it is charged, falsely asserted that an agreement with the secretary of the interior to withdraw certain Indian lands from public auction and turn them over to the company.

BAGGAGE CHECK CASE IS LOST

JURY ACQUITS WOMAN CHARGED WITH VIOLATING ANTI-PASS LAW.

KATY FIREMAN TO BE TRIED

E. H. Rugan, Arrested in Connection With the Case, Returned From Kansas City.

May Davis was acquitted by a jury in county court yesterday afternoon of a charge of violating the state anti-pass law and was discharged. She was arrested in August on a complaint sworn out July 31, charging that she attempted to have baggage checked from Waco to St. Louis on a pass issued to Mrs. E. H. Rugan. E. H. Rugan, a fireman employed by the Katy railroad, was also arrested in connection with the case. He was caught in Kansas City and returned here. His trial will be called during the present term of county court. The pass was issued by A. A. Matthews, superintendent of the Katy, to Mrs. E. H. Rugan and called for transportation of Mrs. Rugan and baggage to St. Louis. When the Davis woman presented it to the baggage agent at the local station she was detained by railroad detectives and later a complaint was preferred against her. The jury acquitted her.

Jefferson Pleads Guilty.
 After carrying the case to the court of criminal appeals and obtaining a reversal of a former judgment, Collin Jefferson, charged with theft, yesterday entered a plea of guilty in county court. He was sentenced to one hour in jail and to pay a fine of $1. Jefferson was charged with the theft of a pair of harness. On March 3, 1912, he was convicted in county court and fined $10 and sentenced to ten days in jail. A reversal was had and a new trial ordered. The case was to have come up for trial at the present term of court. Yesterday afternoon Jefferson appeared and pleaded guilty.

Riggins Will Appeal.
 J. W. Riggins will appeal from the judgment of the Nineteenth district court where a verdict was returned against him in favor of Sid Post for $2,172, and will take the case to the court of civil appeals. Motion for a new trial in the case was overruled. Post obtained a verdict for damages on a suit alleging failure to comply with specific contract. The suit grew out of an exchange of real estate which had been proposed by the two men.

Held for Grand Jury.
 Charged with theft over $50, Harry Batty was bound over to await the action of the grand jury when given an examining trial in Justice J. J. Padgett's court yesterday. He is charged with stealing two trunks from the city waterworks company. They were valued at $140. His bond was set at $500.

GOES TO SUPREME COURT.
 Suit Against Cameron and Bolton Involves $8,250.

The suit of M. C. H. Parks, trustee for the Slayden Kirksey Woolen mills, against W. W. Cameron and E. R. Bolton, will go to the supreme court of the state on an appeal, according to citations issued yesterday by Deputy United States Clerk L. B. McCulloch. The case involves an amount of $8,250, which the trustee contends was obtained by Cameron and Bolton from the Slayden Kirksey mills after the latter corporation became insolvent. The claim is that some of the mill stock, which was in the hands of Cameron and Bolton, was returned to the mill by them and payment received after the mill became insolvent.

The case was dismissed by Judge Maxey last spring as not being in his jurisdiction, but a writ of error having been granted, it will be carried on appeal to the supreme court.

Soldiers Near Mexican Border Drying Out After Five-Inch Rainfall

Uncle Sam's 12,000 soldiers along the Mexican border were nearly drowned out of their tents in the recent heavy storms which swept over Texas. These are the men who are ready, perhaps most of them anxious, for a word from Washington which would send them flying across into Mexico.

In one day nearly five inches of moisture fell. Uncle Sam's 12,000 soldiers spent much time "drying tents." The camp at Texas City presents a strangely bedraggled appearance when the khaki boys are thus engaged. This picture shows a section of the camp at Texas City immediately after a downpour. Though Texas City is very level and only a few feet above tide-water, the camp has made a record for healthfulness. There has not been a case of either typhoid or smallpox. There has been practically no sickness of any kind. It is due to scientific drainage, the experts say, and the sanitary arrangements of the camp. They declare that never again will the "dark camps" of recent wars be repeated. Even the mosquitoes and flies have been banished from the Texas City and Galveston camps, an army of 12,000 "swatters" having set in their deadly work.

International Sunday School Lesson

Motto for this week: "Things are to be taught not for their intellectual interest, but for their bearing on life."—The Hon. Seth Lowe.

Moses' Cry for Help
 Fourth Quarter. Lesson 1. Numbers 11:4-33. Oct. 5, 1913.

One of the proverbial after-sermon grumbles was, "Why does the minister always talk about those old Jews? What have we to do with them?" The answer might have been, "Much every way!" Although they lived so long ago and so far away, the Hebrews were human beings—just men and women, with hopes, fear, and frailties like our own. Their story is a cross-section of life. It is what life is in every age and everywhere. In this instance the story is peculiarly explanatory, instructive, corrective, and inspirational. To any individual, or mass of such, seeking an ideal—ethical, social, or spiritual—this pilgrim and pillared march is suggestive and helpful in the last degree. In point of fact, it is just a pictorial representation of humanity's age-long quest of the "ultimate good." No progress, either of the individual or the mass, is unbroken by moral lapses, more or less shameful. How true to nature, in this instance, the stroke which represents the present life of Israel as unbearable and magnifies the small comforts of Egypt into delicious luxuries! Through a list of fare included meat, fish, cucumbers, melons, leeks, onions, and garlic, Jehovah's just mentions manna. The complainers did not have sense enough to consider which menu was the better for the pilgrim host, saying them from many a misery and adding incalculably to their comforts.

Moses has emphatic illustration in this instance. It was reported to him that certain men who had failed to file an appearance were yet prophesying. Joshua in his loyal enthusiasm cried, "Science them!" But Moses' impartial reply was, "Would God that all the Lord's people were prophets!" What Israel wanted was quails. That was not what they needed. The result was disaster—not God's drastic punishment, but physiological result of climate and diet. Natural law is often sharp and sudden in its reprisals. Here is mercy, not vengeance. Its operation is exemplary—warning—deferring. The phenomenon of quails is not wanting in current confirmatory parallels. Quails, spent by their long passage over the Akaba arm of the Red Sea, are picked up by the caravans of today. Reputable explorers have noted the passage of birds in such numbers as to darken the sky and make a roar like that of many waters. No finer example of skill in the use of motives can be found than in Moses' persuasion of his brother-in-law to accompany him to Canaan. His first appeal, that of personal advantage to Hobad, failed. But, nothing daunted, he followed it up with another, "Hobad could be of advantage to others." It is a sure token of the moral nobility of the Cushite that this won him, while the appeal on the ground of personal advantage failed. He knew the wilderness so intimately that he could be eyes to the pilgrim host, saying them from many a misery and adding incalculably to their comforts.

Young People's Devotional Service.
 October 5, 1913. Colossians 4:1-18.
 Ideal Christian (X)—His cooperation With Others (Consecration meeting).

Texts of this character stick in memory like arrows in a target. If the instruction of the first verse was obeyed there would be an end of current labor troubles, which are a menace to our economic, if not our very national life itself. In the language of today it reads: "Employers, give to your employees that which is just and equal in the sight of heaven." "Employees, be content with that which is just and equal." Obedience to that rule would strike "the strike" dead, and no one would be happier than the honest striker himself.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR LESSON
 OCTOBER 5.

Christian Co-operation (Consecration Service) Col. 4:1-18.
 Daily Readings—
 Co-operation in prayer—Ex. 17:8-16.
 Organized to Fight—Neh. 4:7-14.
 Committee to Help—Mark 2:1-5.
 Fellowship in Evangelism—Mark 6:7-13.

One Spirit—Phil. 1:27-30.
 Working With All Good Men—Mark 9:38-42.
Suggested Thoughts.
 A comrade will more than double your courage and wisdom, more than halve your fear and trials.
 Our Christian Endeavor committee work is a splendid school for co-operation. Train yourself thereby to work with others.
 You can work with others if you are thinking about your own honor or whether you are doing more than your fair share of the work, think about the task.
 With some co-operation reduces the feeling of responsibility; with a true soul it increases it, as one is responsible also for one's co-workers.—Endeavorers' Daily Companion.

The young people's society should always co-operate with the intermediates and juniors, assist them in carrying out their work, purchase supplies for them and see that they are being trained to take up the work of the young people's society and of the church in years to come. Many a flourishing Christian Endeavor society has slowly passed away because the church failed to direct the children in the way that would cause them to desire to enter into Christian Endeavor service. Don't neglect your juniors.

Think of the things of other people, because one has thought of our things.—Maximilien.
 Who counts his brother's welfare As sacred as his own. And loves, forgives and pities. He serves Christ alone.—Whittier.

Infinite is the help man can yield to man.—Carlyle.
 Questions for the meeting:
 How can the Christian Endeavor society co-operate with the Sunday school?
 How can the society assist the Missionary society?
 How can the society assist in the general church services?
 How can the Lookout committee co-operate with the social committee?

On the International Convention.
 Among the things that bulk big in a day when only big things seem worthy of mention "Millionaire Endeavor" does not need to feel ashamed. The 1904 delegates who attended the twenty-sixth international convention at Los Angeles represented a movement that has drawn into its membership in the last thirty-three years fifteen million young men and women and, if we reckon the number of members in societies that have substantially the Christian Endeavor principles, has now an active membership of five million souls.

Evangelistic fervor was not wanting in this great convention. Personal work for the saving of souls was a topic uppermost in discussion in conference, institute and upon the platforms of the great mass meetings. Many street meetings were held by visiting delegations and Christian workers in which the spiritual influence of the convention was brought directly to bear upon the pulsating life of the great city.—The Continent.

Missionary Story for Juniors.
 A good plan for junior superintendents is to tell a missionary story from a good missionary book. This is far better than essays or addresses.

In many Sunday schools and Junior societies I have told part of a missionary story, stopping at the most thrilling place and telling the children that if they liked they may read the end of the story in such and such a book, which they may obtain in the library. The name of the book, of course, should not be labeled missionary.—C. E. World.

HELPS ON FORGERY CHARGE.
 Employee of the Sanger Establishment Accused Joe Hill.

Joe Hill, who claims to be a grandson of W. M. Connolly, a leading merchant of Hico, was arrested in Sanger Brothers' store yesterday morning on a charge of forgery, while he was attempting to cash a check with Connolly's name signed to it.

Sanger employees state that Hill cashed a check for $20 several days ago with the signature "W. M. Connolly"; that the check was returned by a Hico bank yesterday, marked "forgery," and that yesterday morning a few minutes after the mail had been received returning the first alleged forgery, Hill came to the cashier with a check for $50, bearing the same signature. It was detained until officers Lee Huff and Joe Rutland were summoned, when he was taken to the city hall and locked up, where he still remained last night. Another check bearing "Connolly's" signature was caused last week at the Buckhorn saloon.

COTTON PALACE ARRANGEMENTS

Board of Directors in Session Adopts Resolution Calling for Deeper Channel for Brazos.

The committee on Y. M. B. L. Day at the Cotton Palace at a meeting last night decided to carry out features that would make the day one of the biggest ones of the annual show. One of the leading features of the day will be a Trades' Ball in the coliseum at night, preceded by carnival features earlier in the evening.

Prizes for Best Costumes.

Prizes will be given to the best three costumed couples.

Committee to carry out full plans for the day were appointed.

It is planned to unite all Young Men's Business organizations within a radius of a hundred miles of Waco to participate in the day's festivities.

The directors of the Young Men's Business League held their weekly meeting, postponed from last Tuesday, while J. J. Hutcheson and practically every member of his committee held their session meeting in an adjoining room and outlined plans for Y. M. B. L. Day at the Cotton Palace.

W. E. Edgar, chairman of the transportation committee, appeared before the board and reported on several matters which had been referred to him. A definite conclusion cannot be reached until the first part of next week at which time Mr. Edgar will have something that will be of much interest.

For an Extra Train.

The Cotton Palace Young Men's Business League is making a vigorous effort to establish an extra train on the Cotton Belt. The organization proposes to have an additional train run between Tyler and Waco. It was suggested that an additional train leaving Tyler at 8 a. m. in the morning, arriving at Waco at 2 p. m., and leaving Waco at 3 p. m. and arriving at Tyler at 8 p. m., would be a paying proposition for the Cotton Belt, and at the same time give a service which the cities and towns between the two points are badly in need of. This matter was referred to Mr. W. E. Edgar and his committee.

To take proper care of letters, circulars and a paper-and-card indexes the league will purchase a filing cabinet.

Bohemians to Appear.

The Bohemians who have heretofore put on a most realistic affair at the Cotton Palace asked for the league quarters in which to practice the stunts they propose to pull off at the Cotton Palace this year. The directors granted the request. Mr. Rathel was also granted a request of a similar nature.

The general managers and superintendents of the various electric light and gas companies throughout the state will meet here and the convention will convene in the club rooms.

To Receive Newswriters.

A. R. McCollum asked for the club rooms for Press Day, November 1. This will be a body of the most representative newspaper men in Texas and the Young Men's Business League entertainment committee will decorate the hall where the press men will hold a meeting.

A. J. Peterson, assistant cashier of the Central Texas Exchange National bank, asked the Young Men's Business League to give the proposition of bringing to Waco Meiba and Kube-Hu, both of world-wide reputation, to give a concert here. Loudon Charlton, manager of one of the largest concert booking agencies in the United States, has charge of these artists. The matter was referred to Harry Rohrer, who will take the matter up.

NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY

FEAST TO DRUMMERS

WACO DRUG COMPANY GIVES SALESMEN A GREAT BANQUET.

Home and Road Men Gather at the Feast Board in the New State House.

About twenty-five salesmen and local employees of the Waco Drug company were the company's guests at a banquet last night given in the New State House. The banquet was the occasion for a number of after-dinner speeches, and a general exchange of views in regard to the business of the company, and of ideas from each individual on how conditions might be carried to still further improvement. The Waco Drug company, although it has been in business less than two years, has become reorganized as one of the established firms of the state, and as one of the leading houses of Central Texas. Talks by the salesmen showed that the company is increasing its volume of business every month, and getting a firmer hold on every territory which it has entered.

Resolved further, That we urge our representatives in congress to lend their earnest support to any measure looking to securing an appropriation sufficient to insure this important work outlined above.

Secretary H. Hagedorn stated that as soon as Mr. Leavy's rain record word from headquarters at St. Louis would wire Waco the outcome of his recommendation to have the train which goes to Gatesville continue to Hamilton.

WOMEN GET TOGETHER TODAY

To Complete Plans for Celebration of "Woman's Day," on November 8.

At the mass meeting of the ladies, scheduled for this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Cotton Palace, the various details of the celebration of Woman's Day during the forthcoming exposition, Saturday, November 8, will be discussed.

Floral fancies will run rife in the decorative features; autos, the most gorgeously bedecked, will be in line; little tots, with dimpled cheeks and chubby hands will dispense their smiles and throw to the crowds bouquets of lovely floral tributes to those who respond to the summoning of King Cotton to make merry on Woman's Day and do honor to the ladies who are thinking, talking and dreaming of the Cotton Palace beautiful and their day.

It is expected that there will be a tremendous outpouring this afternoon of the women of Waco, who will get glimpses of the magnificent decorative work in the main building and become thoroughly apprised about the plans being worked out for a fitting celebration of their day.

RAIN AFFECTS TICKET SALE

Nevertheless, Canvassers Have Disposed of Almost 200 Testimonial Souquet Cards.

The sale of tickets for the Riggins testimonial banquet is proceeding briskly, despite the weather conditions that have militated against the work of the ticket distributors. Almost 200 tickets have been disposed of among the business men of Waco. The continued heavy rains have prevented the distributors from canvassing the city as thoroughly as it will be done later. Each ticket distributor has a list of the names of persons whose presence is desired and each of these will be invited to participate in the testimonial affair, the only expense being the nominal amount fixed as the cost of the ticket.

To Be Notable Gathering.

The event bids fair to be one of the most enjoyable for all who attend ever held here on a like occasion. The leading citizens of every element of Waco's population will be brought together at the Riggins banquet and prominent professional and business men will come from many points out of town.

With better weather the canvassers will renew their activities and it is expected that the sale of tickets will be greater in the next week than at any time since the distribution began.

Temple Woman Dead.

Temple Oct. 3.—The death of Mrs. J. H. Everett occurred today at the farm residence, eight miles east of this city, the cause of death being heart failure. Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow.

The guests of honor at the banquet last night in addition to the employees of the firm were W. A. Caperton, general sales manager for Lilly & Co., and K. J. Hynum, manager of the southern department of the same firm. Mr. Hynum acted as toastmaster, and Mr. Caperton made an address. J. M. Penland, vice president and general manager of the Waco Drug company, also spoke at length on the past accomplishments of the house, and the ideals which would be set up for future endeavor.

The "Feed" and the Feeder. Those present were J. M. Penland, vice president and general manager; L. R. May, manager sales department; K. J. Hynum, treasurer; C. M. Penland, J. F. Hyster, P. F. Marsh, J. N. Kirby, W. W. Smith, Ed Davies, Claud Green, S. Powell, B. D. Reynolds, H. L. Arnold, L. P. Rankin, J. M. Dixon and P. S. Maedeen, all of the Waco Drug company, and R. J. Hynum and Woods A. Caperton of Lilly & Co.

The menu was as follows: Waco Drug Company, complimentary to its salesmen and employees. New State House. Waco. Friday, October Third. Seven Thirty P. M. Oyster Cocktail. Celery Stalks. Salted Pecans. Queen Olives. Consomme in Cups. Tenderloin of Beef. Tartar Sauce. Little Potatoes. Broiled Spring Chicken, on Toast. French Peas. Cream Potatoes. Pineapple Salad. Brick Ice Cream. It is not the custom of the city recorder when there is some vagrancy unless there is some aggravating cause. In this case the women were charged with promiscuous Austin avenue insufficiently clad.

RIVER IS RISING AT SAN ANTONIO

CONTINUED RAINS THREATEN AGAIN—IS STILL WITHIN ITS BANKS.

DAMAGE ESTIMATE INCREASING

Gonzales Cut Off From Outside—Conditions at Lake Charles Are Improved.

San Antonio, Oct. 3.—Heavy showers fell here during the day and tonight the San Antonio river again is rising, but still is within its banks.

Reports from the surrounding territory increases the loss from Tuesday's and Wednesday's floods. Gonzales is in darkness tonight and telegraph and telephone communication with the outside world is cut. Many persons are marooned in their homes along the Guadalupe river.

Seventy-five persons are surrounded by water on the Santa Anna, two miles south of Gonzales. A rescue party which tried to reach them Tuesday night was wrecked and the members spent the night in the trees. Provisions were floated down to the marooned party from the outside.

The San Antonio river runs one mile from Floresville, spread out of its banks and up to the town, flooding some of the streets. The Cabello also out of its banks and several bridges have gone out.

The damage to crops in this section will be immense.

Recede at Lake Charles.

Lake Charles, La., Oct. 3.—The waters of Calcasieu river have fallen 12 inches since the crest of the flood passed here Wednesday night and conditions are rapidly improving. Water is still standing in many parts of the city and Calcasieu lake is yet eight inches above the highest previous record. The slowness of the water in receding is attributed to the fact that water from the gulf has backed up along the north shore and is holding the flow from the river. Reports from Longville state that Burdick's and Barnes creeks, Whiskey Chitto and Houston river, the chief tributaries of the river are falling rapidly.

The Iron Mountain resumed passenger service over its own lines this morning and freight service will be restored by Monday. The Southern Pacific will not be operating through for at least two weeks.

A ferry boat has been engaged until such time as a trestle through the swamp is rebuilt, to transfer passengers across the lake. The Kansas City Southern and the Lake Charles and Northern will also be in operation Monday.

One hundred and fifty people were rescued from Corbello settlement today. They were found huddled on rafts moored to houses. None had perished but their food supply was exhausted.

Sun Shines at Austin.

Austin, Oct. 3.—The sun shone brightly this afternoon after three days of almost constant rain, amounting to eight inches. Railroad schedules are still disrupted but trains will be started and will probably be on schedule by Sunday. The damage to streets and county roads has been large, and a number of bridges have been washed away.

Cotton in the fields has suffered great damage, and none will be picked for several days.

Joseph Jones, a Syrian, was drowned today while trying to cross Onion creek, about eight miles east of here.

A large quantity of mail taken from the cars that were submerged in Barry creek, near Georgetown, is being asserted and forwarded by the postoffice inspectors here.

Ball County Rivers Overflow.

Temple, Oct. 3.—Telephone reports reaching here from Holland, Little River and Sparks, in the southern portion of Ball county, state that Little River is on a rampage and within two inches of the highest mark ever known. The bottom lands are overflowed and crops under water. In many cases the latter are total losses. J. E. Ferguson, president of the Temple State bank, estimates that the rains and flood of the past week have damaged crops in Ball county to the extent of $500,000.

Rain Stops at Houston.

Houston, Oct. 3.—While flood conditions in the coast country continue to be serious and will be for several days, there is marked general improvement today, with a partial diminution in the rainfall. The sun shone between showers and the belief is the worst is about over. Reports from outside points show that streams are out of banks, fields inundated and heavy damage in the aggregate. There is a disposition also to regard previous loss figures to lumber and rice men as overestimated, although they will be large enough.

No additional loss of life was reported today. Train service continues much interrupted.

ELECTRIC FIXTURES AT REDUCED PRICES.

For a few days we are offering our new stock of fixtures at greatly reduced prices.

Our designs are new and up-to-date. It will pay you to visit our show rooms at once and take advantage of these great bargains. Vesey Electric Co., 608 Austin Street.

TEST POOL HALL LAW.

Attack Is Made on Constitutionality of New Measure.

Austin, Oct. 3.—A test of the constitutionality of the local option pool hall bill passed by the recent legislature will be made with a case to be submitted in the court of criminal appeals styled ex-parte Vernon Francis. The law is being attacked on the ground that the legislature exceeded its authority in conferring such powers on local communities.

English Comedienne Departed.

New York, Oct. 3.—Marie Lloyd, an English music hall singer, and Bernard Dillon, an English jockey, who arrived here yesterday on the steamship Olympic as Mr. and Mrs. B. Dillon, were ordered deported. The singer admitted that she and Dillon were not legally married. Miss Lloyd will appeal to Washington.

Woman Dies at 94.

Conway, Oct. 3.—Mrs. Nehiah Cole, aged 94, died at her home here tonight. She possessed a document from the United States department of the interior showing that her father served in the revolutionary war.

ADDRESSED TO WOMEN

Hot Flashes—Dizziness

Are among the most common of the many danger signals nature sends in advance of that period in a woman's life when her delicate organism undergoes an important change. It is a warning. Serious consequences may follow any carelessness just at this time. Your health must have first consideration.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Makes Weak Women Strong
Sick Women Well

This Famous Prescription has brought relief under these circumstances to thousands of women during the past forty years. It can now be had of medicine dealers in liquid or tablet form as modified by R. V. Pierce, M. D., or send 50 one-cent stamps for trial box of tablets.

Every woman is invited to write and receive confidential and sound medical advice, entirely without cost, from a physician who makes ill of women his specialty.

"Bedfast—For Two Years"

Mrs. GEORGE E. WELLS writes: "I know your medicine helped me wonderfully. I was so weak and nervous I could not sleep. Had a very poor appetite. Had such an aching between my shoulders and such dreadful headaches. My tongue was heavily coated every morning and would get so dry. I am at least ten years older. Have been having 'change of life.' I do not know but that your medicines helped me more than all the doctors. I took six bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and three of 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I can now sleep good at night. My tongue is not coated and my medicines have removed many of my symptoms. I know if I had taken six bottles more I would have been cured. I was about bedfast for two years, now I do all my work and attend to my garden and chickens. I cannot praise Dr. Pierce's medicines too highly."

"COON" IS TREED IN GROCERY

Policemen Buchanan and James Make a Capture in Reese's Store.

Policemen Buchanan and James went "coon" hunting last night in the grocery store of William Reese, 1029 31 Elm street. Wherefore Garfield Houston, a young negro who has been employed in the store as a porter, will endeavor to explain in court today how $11.45 in Agency was transferred from the cash drawer in the grocery to his pockets.

After the store was closed for the day the bookkeeper remembered that he had left some papers in his office that he desired to take home with him and returned to the place about 9:30 o'clock. As he entered with a latch key the bookkeeper saw a dark object leap over a barrel of sugar and flit toward the rear of the store, where a pile of soap boxes was stacked against the wall. He got a glimpse of the object climbing the soap boxes with the nimbleness of a squirrel.

"There's a monkey or some other form of beast in this place," he mused as he retreated to the sidewalk, locking the door to prevent the escape of the supposed animal. The police were advised by telephone of the mysterious object in the Reese store and Assistant Chief of Police Bob Buchanan detailed the two officers to investigate the case.

James and Buchanan went to the store and after turning on the lights they found the "cullud pussen" with the distinguished economical appearance burrowing like a mole in the pile of boxes and dragged him out into the light where he was identified by the bookkeeper. The cash drawer had been rifled, and by a singular coincidence the amount of money missing tallied so accurately with the amount in Garfield Houston's pockets that the policemen locked him up and preferred the charge of theft against the prisoner.

SLAVERY STILL EXISTS

IN THE PHILIPPINES

Mr. W. Cameron Forbes, once Governor General of the Philippines, says that the Philippines have made enormous progress in trade and education in the last four years, but that the time is not ripe for independence.

CITY WILL SPRINKLE

CONTRACT WITH SOUTHERN TRACTION CALLS FOR MORE MONEY.

Texas Power and Light Invites City Commission and Other Officials to Managers' Convention.

Members of the city commission and other city officials will be the guests of the Texas Power and Light company during the session of the local managers' convention to be held in Waco, October 9 and 10. Mayor James H. Mackey has also been invited to deliver an address before the meeting on the morning of October 9.

W. S. Rathell, local manager of the company, yesterday sent a written invitation to the commission to attend the local managers' convention. This invitation that the commission attend both days' sessions and that they together with the city electrician, chief of police, secretary, attorney and city engineer attend the meeting on the night of the 9th. The invitation was read at the commission meeting yesterday and while no action was taken on it it is understood as many as can do so will attend the meeting.

Sprinkling Contract.
On recommendation of Sanitary Commissioner Littlefield the commission agreed to enter into a contract with the Southern Traction company, whereby for a consideration of $85 per month the city would do the sprinkling for that company. The contract when drawn will be on the same lines as the old contract, and will contain the provision that either party can abrogate the contract with thirty days' notice. The former contract with the company called for the payment of $50 per month. Additional sprinkling territory has been added, however, and the amount increased.

Bills Allowed.
Bills for sprinkling and flushing during the month of September were allowed to the city water works company as follows: $418.50 for sprinkling and $122.40 for flushing, was allowed. Application of August A. Busch to repair building at 222 South side square approved.

Application of N. M. Gay to repair building at 110 Washington street was referred to Commissioner Dollins. The following bills were allowed: Okender Bros. $722.95, for Cameron park sewer; Burt & Lytle, $1,127.25 for improvement work on Eighteenth street; N. B. Gregory, $2,579.46 for work on Mary street storm sewer; Texas Bitulchic company, $16,255.65 for pavement on Columbus street from North Sixth to North Twenty-third street.

Complaint was made by Charles Evans that private property at Thirtieth and Vermont streets was being flooded and a mud hole was in front of the property as a result of insufficient drainage. The matter was referred to the street department.

Petition of Southern Traction company to remodel building at Fourth and Washington street at a cost of $10,000 approved.

Cement bond of W. T. Thornton referred to Commissioner Caulfield. Commissioner Littlefield was authorized to buy two horses to use in the street department.

Ordinances were ordered requiring sidewalks on Eighteenth street from Webster to Burnett, on North Eleventh street from Washington to Jefferson and on Barnard street from Twelfth to Twentieth street.

All Are Convalescent.

W. A. Duke stated yesterday that all those injured in the recent explosion at Shaffer & Duke's pressing establishment are now convalescent. None of them have suffered any permanent injuries as a result of the accident. Mrs. Moore is still in the sanitarium, but her condition is not serious, and she is improving.

TWO! THE LAW AVENGES RICHEY

JURY SAYS GUILTY—REED MUST SERVE A LIFE TERM IN PRISON.

BOUNCE BEATY'S TRIAL NEXT

Half Brother of Reed, Who is but 18 Years Old, Must Face Jury.

Dud Reed must serve the remainder of his natural life in state's prison for the murder and beheading of John Richey. This was the verdict of a jury returned at a few minutes to 11 o'clock yesterday morning. The jury had been out since 1 o'clock the previous day.

News that the jury was ready to report spread rapidly about the court house and among those interested in the case, and when the twelve men walked into the court room with Reed's fate in their hands, they were compelled to push their way through a crowd of onlookers.

In response to Judge Richard I. Munroe's question: "Have you agreed on a verdict, gentlemen?" the answer was "We have."

Prisoner Hears His Fate.

A. Mayr, Waco groceryman and foreman of the jury, then handed to District Clerk Bob McClain a small slip of paper. Opening this Mr. McClain read, "We, the jury, find the defendant guilty of first degree murder and assess his punishment at life imprisonment." As the last words fell from the clerk's lips those around the defendant shifted their gaze to his face. All that they saw was a blanched face, drawn but not bereft of its accustomed look of almost sullen unconcern. Reed did not move, and but for the blanched face he evidenced little more interest than he had during the trial.

Law Avenges Richey.

Reed's conviction is the second to be obtained by the state for the murder of John Richey, one other defendant, 18-year-old Bounce Beaty, half-brother of Reed, still is to face a similar charge. Buss Wyers, also a relative of Reed's and Beaty's, was the first convicted. A jury in the district court term in Marlin a short time ago found him guilty and assessed his punishment at death. Wyers has appealed the case and is now confined in the McLennan county jail awaiting the result of his appeal.

The case is probably without parallel in Central Texas criminal history. For cold-blooded taking of a man's life it stands out supreme. On the evening of May 19, 1913, Richey was beheaded. Between 7 and 8 o'clock of the same night his headless body was found lying in the channel of Big Sandy creek, four miles east of Marlin, Falls county. The head was found the day following. It had been cast into a pool of water within twelve feet from where the body lay.

Arrested for Fighting.

It was probably the work of fate that Reed and Beaty and Wyers were arrested within a stone's throw from their alleged victim. Their arrest came about not on a charge of murder at first but on a charge of fighting. Wyers was later released that night and made his escape into East Texas, where he was arrested some few weeks later. Beaty and Reed were taken to jail the night of the crime. A missing hat, lost by Dud Reed, was the cause of the officers finding Richey's body the night of the murder. Arrested for fighting, Reed insisted that he be allowed to get his hat, which he said he had left on the creek bank where he went to get some water. Officers and others began a search for the hat and found it in the body.

Judge Munroe Fell Ill.

The case of Reed and Beaty were transferred to McLennan from Falls county when Judge Richard I. Munroe, who presided at the district court in Falls, became ill.

Reed had been on trial for ten days when his case went to the jury. As defense his attorneys pleaded temporary insanity, produced by heredity and by reason of the excessive and recent use of liquor. The state contended for the maximum penalty, which would have been death.

Shakes Judge's Hand.

Following the return of the verdict and the dismissal of the jury, relatives of Reed and his friends surrounded the chair in which he sat for a few minutes. Directly Deputy Sheriff Lee Jenkins motioned the prisoner to follow. As Reed passed Judge Munroe's bench he extended his hand and Judge Munroe shook hands with the prisoner. Reed was then carried to his cell.

Bounce Beaty may come to trial within a few days. Attorneys representing him and County Attorney Frank Dorff of Marlin have been in consultation several times regarding his case and it is very probable that an agreement will be reached within a short time.

Beaty is the youngest of the defendants. Eighteen years old, he is a giant of a man, standing six feet and one inch. He wears the expression of a boy, and unlike the countenances of his alleged associates had a frank look. When brought into the court room yesterday afternoon he spent his time playing with the children of his relatives, holding one on each knee. Only once did his characteristic lightheartedness desert him and that was when his aged mother placed a hand on his shoulder and with tears in her eyes stooped to whisper a word.

Farmers Adjourn Tonight.

The Farmers' Improvement association, an organization of negroes having a Texas membership of 5,000, met in its annual convention yesterday at St. James tabernacle on South Second street. The meeting will close tonight with the election and installation of officers. About 400 delegates are in attendance, representing 350 local organizations.

PROBLEM DEEPENS

NEW FEATURE IS ASKED FOR THE PEDDLER ORDINANCE.

Retail Grocers Appear Before the City Commission and State Their Case.

Following the presentation by the jobbing interests of the city who deal in produce and foodstuffs of all kinds, of a request for an ordinance which will eliminate the box car peddler and the man who sells produce on railroad property, which was asked of the city commission some days ago, another matter has been injected into the question which promises to result in an ordinance having as its aim the prohibiting to a certain extent of peddler wagons.

Some ten retail grocers appeared before the city commission yesterday morning with the request that in the event such an ordinance was passed it be made to embody a provision doing away with other peddlers over the city. The commission took this to mean that vegetable wagons would be prevented from peddling produce throughout the city. Ben M. Thomas was spokesman for the retailers.

To Proceed Cautiously. . . . The commission decided to take the matter under advisement and referred it to the city attorney for a solution, and with instructions to bring in an ordinance. Shortly after the retailers had departed W. E. Spell, representing a number of jobbers, appeared and took up the question of legislating against peddler cars. Mr. Spell recited the danger to peddlers on the railroad yards, that is that class which peddles fruits and other produce in baskets and who board trains to sell their wares.

Up Again Thursday. . . . He also said the railroads did not favor the box car peddler and if a solution could be reached by which this feature of "merchant" could be eliminated he felt sure the railroads would join in its enforcement.

The matter will again come up Tuesday when it is expected the city attorney will present an ordinance.

"NEWSIES" ARE ENTERTAINED.

With Messenger Boys They Hear Dr. Lovelace Tell of South America.

Forty members of the News and Messenger Boys' Club enjoyed a descriptive lecture on South America last night by Dr. Carl Lovelace, who spent many years on that continent, some special music by Mrs. J. C. F. Kyger and Miss Lora Dee Kyger and finally an oyster supper at the Christ Cafe.

To give them an adequate idea of the location of South America, Dr. Lovelace exhibited a big map of the continent, showing the various countries contained in it, and how to get there; exhibited the bows and arrows with which the natives use in hunting game and in warfare; showed samples of the clothing worn by the Indians there, and described its manufacture, and afforded the boys an idea of the physiological make-up of the early settlers by exhibiting some of the skulls of the aborigines of the country which he dug up from under a house in which he lived while there.

Miss Ewing Returns.
The address was an exceptionally interesting one and the boys enjoyed it fully, as they did the music and the attractive features of the evening. The return of Miss Edna Ewing, pianist of the club, who was present after a three months' vacation spent in the north and east.

From the club they went to the Christ Cafe, where oysters, fried, stewed and raw, along with ham and eggs, pie, cake and milk formed the abundant menu from which each one chose enough to fill himself up to his stomach's content. It was one of the largest crowds that has recently attended the club and their presence in the cafe proved a drawing card for hundreds of passers by who enjoyed seeing the youngsters have the best time they have experienced since the "feed night" a month previous.

RAIN IS VERY COSTLY

DAMAGE DONE TO CITY STREETS, RAILROADS AND COUNTY ROADS.

Little Loss Individually to Railroads, but Great in the Aggregate, It Now Appears.

A review of the damage done by continued rainfall in the state in the last three days shows that the railroads and the cotton growers are worst sufferers.

A canvass of the local offices of the railroads yesterday disclosed that the individual damage by washouts and other mishaps is small, but in the aggregate is very large. No detailed reports of the damage to roadbeds and rails were received at the local offices yesterday.

That the opening of the new interurban line to passenger traffic will be further delayed by the heavy rains goes without saying. But the officers of the interurban company promise that the postponement opening will be hastened as much as possible.

Roads in Bad Shape.
Telephone reports to County Road Superintendent R. J. Windrow from various parts of the country last night went to the effect that roads are in bad shape. The principal damage, according to reports from these sources, is in the roads being cut up. No serious damage has been reported. The continued rains, however, have put all roads in bad shape for traffic and immediately after the rain ceases Mr. Windrow will have a force of men out repairing the damage and dragging roads.

Deaths and Burials.

Eugene Pardo Dead.

After an illness of several months, Eugene Pardo, 61 years old, died at his home on South Third street, near the city limits, yesterday morning. He was one of the oldest truck gardeners in this section and had been a resident of this vicinity for nearly forty years. Mr. Pardo is survived by a widow, five sons and four daughters.

The funeral will take place from the residence this afternoon at 4 o'clock. The services will be conducted by Rev. C. D. Whimmon. The following will act as pallbearers: John W. Baker, H. H. Kinsloe, F. W. Stottle, Joe Mye, H. Kleypas and E. N. Goode.

Funeral of Mrs. Gates.

The funeral services over the remains of Mrs. Nancy Gates, who died in Clinton, October 1, were held yesterday at the home of her son, E. P. Gates, 1519 North Sixth street, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Rev. F. C. McDonnell conducted the services and the interment was in Oakwood cemetery.

Father Kelly Home Again.

Very Rev. Dean E. A. Kelly, rector of the Church of the Assumption, has returned after an extensive tour of Ireland, his old home, and other foreign countries. Father Kelly made the trip for the benefit of his health, and he is much improved. He spent the greater part of the time in the places where he was a child.

Board of Equalization.

The board of equalization for the city is still in session, and will continue their labors into next week. A great many protests are being made on the increased valuations, but no changes of moment have yet been made.

CHILDREN HEAR "SWAN PRINCE."

More Than 100 Little Folks Applaud Miss Pharr at "Story Hour." The opening "story hour" at the public library was a decided success in spite of the inclement weather; 121 children listened to Miss Pharr tell the story of Wagner's beautiful opera, "The Swan Prince." Miss Pharr was accompanied by Mrs. J. O. Davis at the piano.

Mrs. J. W. Wren sang the aria from the opera. This delighted the children so much that they insisted on another song. Mrs. Wren graciously responded with an attractive little song from "Alice in Wonderland." On next Friday, October 10, Miss Pharr will tell one of Andersen fairy tales.
